Increase in sales expected

"We expect the level of new orders to increase in 1977 because of the railroad industry's need for new equipment on a continuing basis in serving the bulk freight handling needs of the energy, agricultural and general industrial segments of our economy."

This outlook is voiced by Mitchell B. Milonski, works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City, the nation's largest producer of cast steel side frames and bolsters.

"The backlog of new freight cars to be built nationally is about 26,000, down from 30,000 at the beginning of the year."

"A total of 60,000 cars was built in 1976, compared with 69,000 the year before," Milonski said this week.

A multi-million-dollar expansion project was completed at the American Steel Plant here during the 1975-76 fiscal year ended Sept. 30.

The project has increased the local plant's production capacity by more than 25 per cent, enabling it to produce side frames and bolsters for 37,000 railroad freight cars per year.

Already the nation's biggest producer of cast steel side frames and bolsters, the plant with its increased capacity can handle U.S. railroads' peak requirements, Milonski commented.

"During fiscal 1977, October 1976 to September 1977, ASF will spend $600,000 at Granite City to improve in-plant environmental conditions.

"The company already has spent millions of dollars at its plants during the past several years to improve pollution and safety. The 1977 project is a continuation of those efforts."

"The problem areas to be tackled in 1977 are dust and noise."

"To reduce noise, ASF is considering insulated partitions for load areas. And, to combat dust, additional dust collection systems will be installed."

"In an effort to conserve fuel, ASF will spend $115,000 during the year to replace old burners on a normalizing furnace with much more efficient recuperative burners."

"The total tons shipped from the local plant during the 1976 fiscal year was 15 per cent below 1975. However, 1976 was still the third best year ever for total tons shipped from the plant."

"Ordering for new freight cars during 1976 was at a very low rate because of the railroad industry's cautious attitude regarding the need for new equipment."

"During the fiscal year, 36,000 new cars were ordered in the United States, up from the 24,000 ordered a year ago but substantially below 1974 when 113,000 freight cars were ordered."

"In fiscal 1976, ASF continued to be a major factor in the

Narcotics in robbery loot

Granite City authorities are seeking a man who displayed a gun and held up the Medicare Pharmacy, 1 American Village, at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash and a large quantity of narcotics.

Witnesses described the man as between five feet, nine inches and five feet, ten inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, and 25 to 30 years old. He wore a plaid shirt, grey trousers, a dark blue nylon jacket and a stocking cap, witnesses said.

A clerk said the man entered the store and inquired about a specific prescription.

While the clerk was looking for the prescription, she heard a noise and turned around as the man was jumping over the counter with a gun in his hand, she said.

Upon announcing a holdup, the man ordered the clerk to lie on the floor and then walked to a drug section at the rear of the store and announced a holdup.

Trial testimony ends

A jury in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville is expected to decide sometime this evening whether Hubert David Richmond Jr. is innocent or guilty of the murder of Miss Theresa Kichler, 78, of 2217 Grand Ave.

Richmond, 17, of 2137 Cleveland Blvd., also is charged with breaking into Miss Kichler's home Aug. 28, burglarizing the home, and beating her with a blunt object, possibly a flashlight, breaking her skull. He also is charged with arson for allegedly setting two fires in the home.

The jury heard four and one-half days of evidence and testimony last week and this week and returned this morning to hear final arguments from Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone and Defense Counsel Bill Lucco of the public defender's office.

Circuit Judge William Beatty, who is conducting the trial, reserved yesterday to meet with the attorneys for both sides and reach agreement on the wording of the instructions he will give the jury after today's final arguments are concluded. Unlike most murder trials in which eyewitnesses paint vivid pictures of the murder scene and circumstances leading to the murder, Richmond's trial has consisted primarily of video tapes of Richmond's statements to police and police recollections of questioning him.

Much of the trial has been devoted to showing and explaining items of evidence, including a boot taken from Richmond when he was arrested which allegedly had dried blood on it; blood samples from Richmond; saliva samples from the victim; photos and a drawing of Miss Kichler's house and other small items.

Keys to the prosecution's case are a video tape taken at the police station the night of Richmond's arrest in which he allegedly admits breaking in, and describes Miss Kichler's home interior and a second

Locks issue grows more complicated

The existing Alton Locks and Dam No. 26 apparently could be repaired for $341 million, with a 1,200-foot-long steel cellular lock inserted.

The General Accounting Office said late Monday in Washington.

The GAO, an arm of Congress' repair plan to add the Engineers' "overly generous" and recommends changing the Corps' repair plan to add the lock and reduce the cost by $132 million from an original $473 million estimate.

Army Engineers favor building an entirely new facility in the Mississippi River two miles downstream from the present locks and dam, which they regard as old, small and deteriorating.

The Corps further argues that repair of the present structure would be costlier than building new facilities, an assertion with which the GAO disagreed this week in releasing its report.

All parties had appeared to feel that if a new dam is built there would be a 1,200-foot-long lock, matching the length of the largest of the two locks at Granite City Locks No. 27.

The Corps seemed to agree until this week that if the locks stayed at their present location, the two locks would continue to be 600 and 360 feet—dimensions blamed for delaying passage of long barge tows.

The General Accounting Office said Monday it believes the Engineer Corps' figure for repairing the present locks and dam includes a $109 million "contingency fund."

Conceding that some of its cost and engineering assumptions are not fully confirmed at this point, the GAO suggested creating a 1,200-foot lock in the middle of the present Alton dam, maintaining the 600-foot long lock for standby use and discontinuing maintenance of

Dan Partney in mayor race

Daniel Partney, 26, of 2601 Edison Ave., a son of the late Granite City Mayor Don Partney, announced yesterday that he will run for mayor in April against incumbent Mayor Paul Schuler.

Immediately following the announcement, Partney obtained nominating petitions from City Clerk Robert W. Stevens.

Partney told the Press-Record, "I feel Granite City has become stagnant and we have seen no recent growth. Four years ago, Paul Schuler made a lot of promises which have not been carried out."

"I feel there are questionable areas about our sewer repairs and questionable areas in the effectiveness of our police department."

"I just think Granite City needs to get on the move again," Partney concluded. Partney is one of the late mayor's three sons. The others are David and Don Partney Jr.

Daniel Partney was elected in 1974 to the Madison County Board where he presently is serving his first term. He is an estimator and vice-president of Granite Sheet Metal Works and is affiliated with Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary and Thomsen Ambulance Service.

He attended Granite City Schools and Southern Illinois University and served in the U.S. Army in Vietnam where he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal, Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Silver Star, Vietnam

On and off the record Holiday present—full use of new underpass

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
Quad-City motorists may receive a New Year's Day present.

The already-open Broadway underpass in Venice may be placed in fuller use by Jan. 1.

The underpass project and Broadway relocation now are 98 per cent complete in terms of construction work, Joseph Crowe, district construction engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, said yesterday.

"There is some shoulder work remaining. Some surface treatment is still to be finished. We hope to take the barricades down by Jan. 1, weather permitting," Crowe said.

Only one two-lane side of the four-lane underpass currently is open. In some cases, drivers unfamiliar with the area have started to pass and only narrowly have avoided head-on collisions at the underpass.

Weather outlook

Clear to partly cloudy, windy and warmer today with high in the 40s. Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight. Low in the low to mid-30s. Chance of showers Friday. High in the 40s. Little or no precipitation Saturday through Monday. Lows in the upper teens and 20s. High in the 30s Saturday and Sunday, warming to the 40s on Monday.

The new traffic structure carries eastbound and westbound traffic beneath a series of railroad crossings paralleling Main Street.

Partial opening of the underpass earlier this year eliminated delays and hazards associated with the lack of a grade separation.

Also approximately 98 per cent complete is a larger project, the vehicular overpass at the Chicago Avenue railroad crossing on Federal Aid Route 151 (Great River Road) near the Granite City Army Installation.

The $2,650,000 overpass is a key link in the project to extend Route 151 southward beyond its present termination at Niedringhaus Avenue to connect with Broadway near Main Street, Venice.

Overall construction work to complete the new highway's link with Broadway is 80 per cent finished, Crowe said, indicating that the Granite City-Venice section can be opened to traffic about July 1977.

Route 151 work remaining to be done includes construction of shoulders, installation of traffic signals and completion of side street entrances.

World market grows for Illinois soybeans

Illinois farmers' checkoff investments in soybean market development have helped open up new marketing efforts in the Midwest, Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

The American Soybean Association director of market development, Denis Blankenship, told the Illinois Agricultural Association at its annual meeting today in Chicago that the ASA conducted its first market development activities in the Soviet Union during October. These were seminars on utilization of soy protein and soybean meal.

With increased support from growers, ASA also was able to hire a regional director to get a market development program under way in the Midwest, Spain, Portugal and northern Africa, he said.

Two years ago, Illinois' new checkoff program provided the impetus for initial market development activities in four Eastern European countries, Blankenship said.

"That program is now thriving, and three additional countries are being serviced by ASA's Eastern European office this year."

"Grower-supported programs have also convinced the leading West German edible oil processor to introduce identified soy oil to consumers in that country," Blankenship added.

"The German housewife currently prefers sunflower oil and is willing to pay a nine cents per pound premium over soy oil."

"If the market development campaign is successful in increasing the soy oil price to within four cents per pound of sunflower oil, the 1980 value of soy oil sold in West Germany would increase by $60 million."

Blankenship said soybean growers in 16 states are now helping finance ASA's market development program through half-cent-per-bushel investments.

"Along with funding from the federal government's Foreign Agricultural Service and foreign cooperators, this will provide $6 million to conduct activities in 55 countries during 1977."

"These market development efforts have assisted in expanding Illinois soybean export value from $77 million in 1966 to $793 million in 1975."

"Fifty-one per cent of the nation's soybean crop was exported in 1975."

How to choose holiday toys? Very carefully

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Now that the Christmas shopping season has begun in earnest, it is an appropriate time to mention safe toys.

At Christmas, most of us express our love for others through the giving of gifts, and small children are often the primary recipients. When shopping for toys, try to remember that some toys, no matter how cute or clever they may seem, are not safe for small children.

Even with the hustle and bustle of Christmas shopping, take a few extra moments to make certain the toys you buy will not harm a child. Since safe toys are more plentiful than ever, they should be easy to find.

What kinds of toys should you avoid, and what kinds are safe? The Illinois Department of Public Health has a few guidelines to assist in selecting toys.

When shopping, look for those toys that have smooth, rounded edges. A child can easily cut himself on many toys.

Purchase dolls or stuffed animals that have eyes sewn on instead of attached with sharp prongs. Eyes attached with prongs are easy to remove and swallow.

Avoid buying stuffed animals that have sharp wires in the ears or tails. These wires often poke through the material and can injure a child. And avoid purchasing dolls with sharp, pointed pins in their hair.

Another tip is to stay away from toys that have small parts which are exposed or easy for a child to remove. These are easy to swallow or insert into an ear or nostril.

Other types of toys you should not give to small children include those which contain darts, arrows or other missiles that can be thrown or shot at someone.

Electrical toys, especially those which heat up, and toys made of glass or brittle plastic are also hazardous in the hands of small children.

The ideal safe toy:

(A) is too large to swallow;

(B) has smooth, rounded edges;

(C) has no exposed straight pins, sharp wires or nails;

(D) has no detachable parts that can lodge in a child's windpipe, ear or nostril; and (E) has no electrical component, especially one that generates heat.

Toys are expressions of love. Choose them with care.

Weekend firemen get pay raise

The Venice City Council Tuesday night increased the pay for firemen on duty during weekends from $2.50 an hour to $2.75.

Two firemen are on duty during the weekends at the fire station, with a full-time driver-fireman on duty during the week. The raise still will be in line with the city's budget appropriation for the fire department.

The council awarded a biennial patching contract to MacLair Asphalt Co. of Collinsville at $11.85 a ton.

Reese Asphalt Co. of Cahokia also bid $11.85, but MacLair was recommended by the committee as it is closer to the city and will cost less to pick up.

Based on a 200-ton order for salt, Dornier of East St. Louis was awarded the contract on a low bid of $11.92 a ton. International Salt of Pennsylvania was next low bidder at $13.80 a ton.

At the request of Alderman Tyrone Echols the council approved the purchase of two replacement beaters for the McKinley bridge toll booths at $150 each.

The city also approved $125 for a senior citizen Christmas dinner.

Alderman Thomas Voegelé reminded those present that "Red Devil" Italian style sausage is being prepared and sold by the Venice Adult Booster club.

The sausage is being sold for $1.50 a pound and orders are being taken for Saturday pick up. Voegelé said anyone wishing to order sausage may call 876-4150 or 877-4797.

The McKinley bridge report for November showed 212,574 vehicles crossed the bridge.

This is 250 vehicles a day more than the same month last year, according to Duane Georgeff, bridge manager.

The arrest report for October showed $601 was collected in fines and 51 male and four female arrests were made.

Warning on liquor 'transfer'

Thomas J. Murphy, executive director of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, has told the attorney for a Granite City licensee that the licensee is purchasing its liquor in violation of state law.

To an Edwardsville attorney, Murphy alleged, "It has come to my attention once again that the owner is continuing to order for the front premise only and transferring part of the merchandise to the back premise for sale."

This was called a violation of the Illinois Dram Shop Act and of Illinois Liquor Control Commission rules.

Murphy continued, "Please convey to him that this is our last warning and that if we discover this situation to be continuing after our own investigation, a citation—to show cause why he should not lose both of his licenses—will be issued."

Venice schools may offer meals to the elderly

The feasibility of offering midday meals to senior residents of Venice and a decision to change the regular meeting dates to the first and third Wednesdays of each month starting in January, were issues before the Venice School Board Monday night.

Board members have convened on the third Monday of each month for the past several years and, more recently, on the first and third Mondays.

Sessions will continue to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the board office. Conflict with other activities was cited by one or more board members in seeking to change the meeting day.

In other business, the board discussed a letter from State Superintendent of Schools Joseph M. Cronin, in which he stated it is now possible for school districts in Illinois to establish a program providing meals for senior citizens without cost to the district.

Dr. Cronin said recent developments in the Child Nutrition Programs now make it possible for a school district to embark on elderly feeding programs.

"In Illinois, the DeKalb and Lincoln school districts are presently participating in elderly feeding programs," the state superintendent said.

"Other states, namely Wisconsin and Minnesota, already have embarked on such a program to provide lunches and have found many benefits," Dr. Cronin noted.

Such programs can be operated at no extra cost to the district. Rules and regulations now exist which will allow school districts to conduct programs providing meals for the elderly on a full cost recovery basis, the state officer said. At present there is no reimbursement for these meals, he added.

School food service facilities can be used to meet the nutritional needs of the elderly, Dr. Cronin noted.

Benefits noted in the two states where the program now exists, the superintendent commented, include improvement of a school district's image to the older taxpayers of the district. Reports show where programs for the elderly have been operating there is increased support for the schools and educational goals. Such citizens enjoy an opportunity to get out of their homes, Dr. Cronin said, and the students and the elderly can benefit from each other's company. Students also have the chance to come into contact with more adults during their school hours, he pointed out.

In addition to a food service program for the elderly, consideration should be given to extending other educational, recreational, social and public services to them, the state education officer said.

He suggested that a number of agencies could be coordinated to provide a special interest curriculum for senior citizens in finance, health and use of leisure time.

Venice board members showed interest in the proposed program and asked Sup of Schools Robert N. Vickers to contact local sponsors of senior citizens' groups to find out if such a food service is needed in Venice.

The board also accepted the resignation of Tim Tulliver, a custodian, and granted maternity leaves to Mrs. Carol Williams, a Title VII aide, and Mrs. Isabel Matkins, a secretary at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

The next board session was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 22.

Royal Rangers yule banquet Saturday

Royal Rangers Outpost 73 and Missionette Leaders of Tri-City Park Tabernacle will hold their annual Christmas banquet and party at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, in the church Fellowship Hall.

Entertainment will include a guest speaker Charles Tracey, a puppet show by the Rev. Dan Dettman and two movies, according to Jerry Freeman, senior commander.

Special guests will be Charles Hendricks, district 9, Royal Ranger Commander and Berlie Hoffstad, District 9, training coordinator, he added.

REV. GERALD SNIDER

New minister at Apostolic Church

The Rev. Gerald Snider Sr., assumed the duties of pastor of the Apostolic Pentecostal Church, 1348 Iowa St., Madison, and held his first services on Dec. 5.

He was ordained into the ministry on April 9, 1975, at the First Apostolic Pentecostal Church in Pinckneyville, Ill., by the Rev. J. R. Hold of Loganport, Ind., and the Rev. A. D. Van House of Evansville, Ind. The latter minister is also chairman of the Board of the International Ministerial Association.

The Rev. Snider served as the assistant pastor for two years at the First Pentecostal Church, Waterloo, Ill. He and his wife, Linda, reside at 708 H. Meadowlane Drive. They have five children, Mrs. Georgia Davis, Gerald Jr., William, Linda and Samuel.

Rev. Snider replaces the Rev. Mason Pareus who died in July.

Two drivers hurt

Drivers of two autos were injured at 3:30 p.m. Monday when their autos collided at 3rd Street and Madison Avenue.

Mrs. Lois M. Hansen, 48, of 313 Willow Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a bruise to her right knee and pains in her left shoulder and then released. Rose M. Braun, 18, of 2516 Roney Drive, reported an injury but declined treatment.

Matthew 1:21: "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins."

Christmas is such a beautiful time of the year. It is truly a time of caring and sharing. We are made aware of the great love that God has for His people.

This portion of scripture has always meant much to me personally. Not just the fact that God loved the Virgin Mary; not for the fact that He gave his only begotten son; but, for the fact that he shall SAVE his people from their sins.

You see Christ came into his own but his own received him not, yet AS MANY AS RECEIVED HIM to them gave he the power to become the sons of God.

COMING TO Him is something you have to initiate to receive him. He came to the world, now the world must come to Him. As many as come He will in no wise cast out. Wouldn't this be an appropriate season to come.

Dance class to aid needy

Persons of any age wishing to learn eight different dance steps from ballroom to polkas are being invited to a three-hour lesson by the professional dance instructor, "Charles."

The dance instruction will be from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave.

Admission is a donation of food for needy people.

According to O. T. Potter, chairman of the event, potatoes, onions and flour are needed, but canned goods also will be welcome.

Beginners to experienced dancers will enjoy the program and learn much about dancing, according to Potter.

Yule basket project in Nameoki Township

"Nameoki Township is in the process of accumulating Christmas baskets to help needy families in the area, as we have done in the past," Supervisor Louis Whitsell said this week.

"This year, we have received the assistance of Mrs. Marge Freeman, chairman of the Festival of Giving, a group member of Girl Scouts.

"Donations to our Christmas baskets will be appreciated."

Ryan GOP House leader

With backing by State Representative Everett G. Steele of this district, Rep. George H. Ryan of Kankakee was chosen as Republican (minority) leader of the Illinois House on Tuesday.

He defeated Rep. William D. Walsh of LaGrange Park, 46-37, in a party caucus at Springfield. Minority Leader James Mahaburn is retiring from House service.

Walsh has been an assistant minority leader for the last two years, along with Rep. Celeste Stiehl of Belleville. Mrs. Stiehl is expected to continue as an assistant leader.

Governor-elect James R. Thompson (R, Chicago) took no part in the House competition. Ryan promised to "work with the governor and avoid a tax increase if possible."

Democrats will control the lower house of the General Assembly in 1977-78 by a 94-83 margin.

Narcotics

before ordering employees there to lie down.

All complied with the order except two employees who were handed a bag by the bandit and ordered to fill it with narcotics.

The robber then returned to the front of the store and instructed the clerk to "hand over the money in the cash register."

At this point the clerk screamed and fainted.

The man returned to the drug section of the store, waving a blue revolver at the employees while grabbing the bag of narcotics. He then ordered everyone to stay on the floor for five minutes before fleeing.

A man matching the description of the bandit reportedly walked into a nearby business place about 11 a.m. and appeared to be very nervous, but departed without incident.

Reported taken from the drug section of the store (all pills were: 250 Dexamet, 30 Dilaudid, 500 Percodan, 600 Preludin, 1,500 Tuinal, 600 Seconal and 1,000 Ritalin).

Recalls holidays in Greek village

The tree most used as a Christmas tree in Dimitrios Alexiou's home town is a fig tree. Home for the SUE student is Neo Pyrgos, a small village near Katerini in northern Greece.

"Pine trees are expensive, so we fabricate our own trees," Alexiou says. The villagers take a defoliated branch and make it "bloom" with man-made leaves fashioned from green paper dipped in candlewax.

The tree is then decorated in much the same fashion as American trees, except that fresh fruit is included among the ornaments. As the holidays pass, many of the "goodies" disappear from the tree.

In Neo Pyrgos, Christmas is a three-day affair and begins with decorating of the tree on Christmas Eve.

The celebration continues with small children of the village going from house to house singing carols. Later, when the children are home in bed fast asleep, their older brothers take over the job of caroling.

The trek of the "big boys" through the village has an air of romance about it. The trip takes much longer because the singers are entertained at each stop.

If there are unmarried girls in the household, they ply the fellows with freshly-baked pies, cakes and other specialties they have baked. Sweethearts are rewarded with the dedication of a special song.

Christmas Day is spent in worship and "making things right" with one's neighbors.

"In Greece, we don't have communion every day. One of the requirements is that you must go with a clean soul," Alexiou said. Many a rift between neighbors has been restored on Christmas Day.

The third day of Christmas is spent partying. "Christmas time in my village is always something special," Alexiou said. "The villagers have worked hard in their fields all year. They look forward to the celebrations."

Parties are going on all over town, and one doesn't need a special invitation to attend them. There is music and dancing everywhere. Homes have been spruced up for the festivities, and there is plenty of food for everyone.

"Every housewife is known for a special dish she prepares," he said.

While Christmas is basically a three-day event, business generally slows down to a molasses crawl between Dec. 24 and January 8.

"Many of the Saints' Days fall during that time," Alexiou said. The Alexiou family, as well as most Greek families, are members of the Greek Orthodox Church.

Traditions of Neo Pyrgos are not necessarily the same as those of other Greek villages.

Many of its inhabitants are people who migrated from Turkey and Bulgaria during the 1920s. Although they have embraced the culture of their new home and adopted many of its traditions, the people have kept some traditions from their old countries.

One tradition of Bulgarian

origin celebrated in Neo Pyrgos is Women's Day.

"Many villagers in Bulgaria didn't have doctors to deliver babies. They were delivered by midwives," Alexiou recalled.

On Jan. 7 each year, the village women honor the midwives. They wash their feet and shower them with gifts, and everyone goes dancing.

Everyone goes dancing, that is except the men. The day is similar to "mom's night out" in America, except that in Neo Pyrgos the men are nowhere to be seen.

"If they are caught outside, they are fined," Alexiou said. He will spend Christmas 1976 in this area, as he has done now for several years.

But there will be two extra guests around the Christmas tree. His parents are coming to America for the holidays.

BOOKS Common Cause to presidents

CAMPAIGN MONEY: edited by Herbert E. Alexander; Free Press; 337 pages; $10.95. Common Cause leader John W. Gardner and national columnist David S. Broder contribute to this volume. It gets into some of the abuses in state political campaigns — the really big money that swings Texas elections and other startling revelations going far beyond the national payoffs that have become well known.

DOLLARS AND SENSE: by Betty Wulliger; Random House; 286 pages; $8.95. Most financial writers, even those on newspapers, write for brokers and other experts of finance.

Wulliger has a book for those of us who wish to make a few bucks, not control all the money in the world. She tells some interesting and useful things about savings and loan associations and how to select the firm and the plan that fits your needs. She also gets into deeper finance. Mostly, she writes in language every reader will understand. Financial writers, as well as just plain people, should read what she has to say.

CARING: by Willard Gaylin; Alfred A. Knopf; 199 pages; $7.50. Here is one psychiatrist who gives us hope. His attitude is reflected in the title of his book. Man does care, he says, and he gives persuasive proof of this over the 199 pages of his recitation. He has antidotes for cynicism and despair and his whole presentation is a refreshing one in these times of exposure of the morose and pessimistic avenues of life.

Steelworkers of Local 68 favor McBride

United Steelworkers of America, Local 68, at Granite City Steel, have voted to nominate Lloyd McBride for USWA president in balloting Feb. 8, and also have nominated Buddy Davis for director of Granite City Subdistrict 34, it was announced Monday.

The election results were announced by B. J. Buron, president of Local 68, who said that in a light vote McBride was favored by a vote of 13 to 4, and Davis was nominated by a vote of 16 to 1. The election was held early this month.

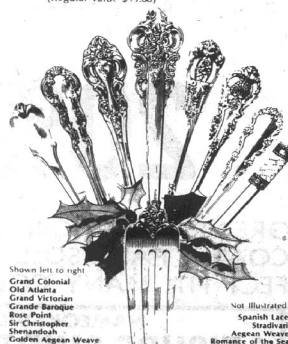

Local 68 has approximately 170 members who comprise the electrical control section of Granite City Steel employees. McBride is opposed in the national election by Ed Sadowski, who also has received approval of enough locals to win a place on the ballot. McBride now heads subdistrict 34. Davis, who supports McBride, now is a business representative of subdistrict 34.

State facing two difficult years

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — The state of Illinois soon will embark on two of the most challenging years of its history.

It is often said that Illinois is a microcosm of the United States because of the diversity of its population, geography and economy.

As such this state will share with the entire country the entrance into a new period of American history, which may someday be recorded as the post-Watergate era.

era with some unique circumstances of its own.

First of all, the new state administration, which takes power in January, will have only a two-year term in contrast to the four years allowed for its predecessors.

This is due to the change provided in the 1970 Constitution whereby Illinois will join other major states in electing its governor and other state officers in the off years or non-presidential election years.

The switch, although a wise one and long overdue, nevertheless comes at an inopportune time. It would have been preferable to have it come at the beginning of a second term of an incumbent governor.

A governor who has been chosen twice by the voters would have provided the advantage of a steady influence in the transition period.

The political factor certainly would have been far less important.

However, the incoming governor next January, Republican James R. Thompson, 40, will in fact be the fifth governor Illinois has had within the past 10 years.

This is itself unusual because Illinois voters over the years have generally allowed their governors two four-year terms.

The late Gov. Otto Kerner, first elected in 1960, served a little more than seven of his eight authorized years. He resigned to accept a federal judgeship in May of 1968 and Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro succeeded him.

However, Shapiro held the office only about seven months losing it to Republican Richard B. Ogilvie in the November 1968 election.

Ogilvie held the office only four years, losing out to Democrat Dan Walker in 1972. During that brief span, however, Ogilvie did delay a revenue crisis by winning legislative approval of the state's first income tax.

Walker became a lame duck governor after little more than three years as a result of his defeat in last March's Democratic primary. His effectiveness as the state's chief executive has inevitably diminished since then.

Thompson inherits a state government weakened by drift and instability, its condition made worse by Walker's disruptive "politics of confrontation," and a nearly empty treasury.

He also faces the prospect of dealing with a legislature firmly controlled by the Democrats.

However, he does have one advantage in that he won election by the largest plurality in Illinois history.

Democrats may be cautious about blocking proposals of so popular a governor for purely political reasons.

Politics aside, the issues facing the state government and the legislature are so many and significant that only cooperation between both the executive and legislative branches offers any hope for solution.

Archbishop to visit here

Archbishop Karekin Sarkissian, prelate of the Armenian Apostolic Church of America, vice-moderator of the World Council of Churches, a theologian, author and graduate of Oxford University in England, will visit the local church, St. Gregory's Armenian Church, this Saturday and Sunday.

The church, which serves downstate Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri and Oklahoma is observing its 24th anniversary Sunday, Dec. 12, and the occasion will see the elevation of altar boys David Throne, Johnny Manogian, Danny Manogian, Kevork Shrikian, Vahé Habeshian, Bobby Parsaglian, Jeffrey Hagopian and Gregory Bedian to the rank of ordained acolytes.

Assisting in the services will be the Rev. Khoren Habeshian, Arch Deacon Vahan Haroian, Choir Director Margie Sioian and Organist Mary Haroian and the choir.

Guests attending the anniversary dinner will be Mayor

Shepherd United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Lynn Prater welcomed the group and offered the opening meditations.

Refreshments were served to those named and to Mesdames Bonnie Maritt, Millie Storum, Angie Proffitt, Tonja Monroe, Katie Watters and Virginia Rainwater. The next meeting is planned for Jan. 4, at the church.

Mrs. Hesseldenz presents lesson

"Where Will Always Be A Christmas" was the subject of a lesson given by Mrs. Barbara Hesseldenz at a meeting Tuesday night, of the United Methodist Women of the Good and Mrs. Paul Schuler, former Mayor Leonard Davis, attorney Casper Niphossian, Alderman and Mrs. Curt Blevins and Alderman and Mrs. Steve Basarich.

Chapter to aid residents

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi finalized plans for service projects this month, to include preparing a Christmas basket for an elderly couple and stuffing yuletide stockings to be delivered to underprivileged children.

Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver, 1250 Klein St., Venice, entertained the chapter members in her home, and submitted a report on the Sorority City Council meeting.

Mrs. Norma Rains, Mrs. Betty Ebling and Mrs. Jane Laule were appointed to a liaison committee to work with the City Council on plans for an area convention.

The business session was conducted by President Mrs. Lora Mae Lombardi, and the cultural program on "Electronics-Specifically Television," was presented by May and Betty Ebling.

During their talk they said television was developed by Radio Corp. of America and a copy of a newspaper dated Sept. 23, 1933, stressed its prediction of immediate use of color telecasts. This was followed by the first color telecast of the Rose Bowl parade in Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day, 1954, the program chairman added.

A Christmas meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Rains, 2001 Garfield Ave., it was noted.

Others attending were Dolores Dorch, Dolores Byrnes, Imogene Forrest, Martha Jean Dyer, Jane Laule, Norma Rains, Pat Tsipalaroff. Winners for the evening were Mrs. Dyer and Gloria Jean Druhe.

Pontoon Beach Lions induct four members

Four new members were inducted into the Pontoon Beach Lions Club last week. The new members were inducted by District Deputy Governor Jim Riskovsky of Illinois Lions District I-G.

New Lions inducted were James Whaley, employee of Vesel Distributors, Inc., James Williams, owner of Pontoon Clark service station, Frank Cramer, owner of Dial-A-Pizza Restaurant, and David Schermer, manager of the new Schermer's Market in Pontoon Beach.

In a speech to the Pontoon Lions, Governor Riskovsky gave special recognition to the club for its new dedication towards the purpose of Lionism. "The Pontoon Beach Lions Club has shown great enthusiasm in the last half year and has caught the attention of Lion state and district officers and the citizens of your community. The Lions Club of Pontoon Beach has given its community something to be proud of and for the new members I induct tonight, a challenge to live up to," Riskovsky concluded.

Passable roads necessary to mail delivery

An appeal to patrons in the Granite City area for cooperation in keeping roads passable and approaches to mailboxes clear during the winter months was made Wednesday by Postmaster Herbert A. Backs of the Granite City post office.

"Although rural carriers must make every reasonable effort to serve the greatest number of customers possible during the severe weather," Postmaster Backs said, "these carriers are not required to provide service on foot when roads are impassable or when city and state authorities issue warnings that road travel is extremely hazardous."

"Customers also should be aware that failure to open approaches to boxes after heavy snows may prevent carriers from making deliveries," Postmaster Backs said.

The postmaster said customers may be asked to temporarily relocate their boxes, or make other arrangements to get their mail, if detours continue for an extended period of time.

Youths to fast to aid hunger relief agency

About 25 youths of the First Assembly of God Church in Granite City will begin a 30-hour fast Friday to identify with hunger, as many people around the world are experiencing, and to aid an agency supporting hunger-related relief programs.

Dennis Ripley, Assembly of God youth pastor, said the participants "hopefully, will stay together during the fast so that while we identify with hunger we can also learn about it."

"We will learn through audiovisuals and other program materials how many factors contribute to hunger — our affluent life-styles, population, the energy crisis, among others, and will discuss how we can be part of the long range solution," the youth minister said.

Ripley pointed out the FAST 30 hunger program also has a practical side as each participant will contribute $5 of their own money to take part. "We also are seeking donations from friends and neighbors asking each sponsor to skip one meal and to pass along a program fact sheet to two other individuals asking them to become involved," Ripley said.

supports a number of hunger-related relief and development programs in two dozen Latin American, Asian and African countries, Ripley explained. "No one group or organization can help all of the millions of men, women and children who are hungry in the world," he said. "But the First Assembly youth believe that people become hunger statistics one at a time and they can be helped the same way. They are determined to do their part,"

Ripley commented. Persons interested in learning more about the FAST 30 program or in helping the youths to meet their goal of $1,000, may contact Ripley at 877-3430 for further details.

Police changes due

A promotion and the filling of a vacancy with a new probationary patrolman were approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night, the first step in a reorganization of the rank structure of the city's police department.

The council approved the promotion of Detective William Harris from the rank of patrolman to the rank of sergeant, effective Dec. 16. He will remain in the detective division until his current cases are concluded, probably after Jan. 1, and then will transfer to the patrol division as a uniformed sergeant.

Illinois worship traced to mound builders here

(98th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

This month's efforts to form a new Lutheran group in Illinois and elsewhere illustrate the ever-changing nature of religion in this state.

The timeless importance of faith, the tension between people who profess different ultimate visions, and the gnawing presence of doubt existed in Illinois from the beginning.

Churches found Illinois open to their practices and influences, and its borders no barrier to ideas.

As Bronson Alcott, a man who took religion back to New England from the West (Jacksonville), wrote in 1872, "In the west, the people are more ready to learn what is said by diviner minds."

Religious history in the Illinois country begins at least with the "mound builders" of Cahokia who left ageless traces of their attitudes toward life and death in their burial places.

Indians worshiped the "Great Spirit" in various ways. The initial Christian service on Illinois soil probably occurred near Starved Rock in 1673 when Father Marquette said Mass.

French priests built a mission at Cahokia in 1699. A century later, in 1796, the Rev. John Clark caught the religious diversity of the area when he wrote, "Some were religious people, both Baptist and Methodist; some were moral and respected the Sabbath; others were indolent or at least skeptical of all revealed truth."

For much of the 19th Century, religious organization in the state was primarily and variously Protestant.

Peter Cartwright, typical of the itinerant evangelist, bragged of his "muscular Christianity."

He was always ready to verbally or physically attack dualism, universalism, skepticism, sinners, devils, drunkards or anything else that challenged God's authority as he saw it.

The Zion's Herald referred to him as "the primate of all Prairiehood." Adding to the choices were Joseph Smith and the Mormons who for a time attempted to construct an earthly kingdom at Nauvoo, and those represented by Elijah Lovejoy, Alton journalist.

His uncompromising religious-moral principles led to his murder in a dispute over slavery. Others sought isolation for their religious communitarian Schardan, 2245 Delmar Ave., as a new probationary patrolman, effective Dec. 16. If Schardan passes his remaining examinations, he also will be assigned to the patrol division.

The moving of Harris to the patrol division will allow Sgt. Michael Devine to be transferred to the service division, filling a vacancy created by the retirement of Sgt. Kelly Hodges. Devine will transfer to that division Monday, Chief of Police Ronald Veizer, announced.

Harris' transfer and promotion will create a vacancy in the detective division after the first of the year and Veizer said he plans to transfer someone from the patrol division to the detective section at that time.

The Press-Record has learned three patrolmen are under consideration for the detective opening, but Veizer said he will not consider who should be appointed until Harris has concluded his pending cases.

BEATEN BY THIEF

Mrs. Diane Fish, 31, of 3002a E. 23rd St., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital during the weekend after a man, who tried to snatch her purse, beat her near Kirkpatrick Homes. She was scuffed for a head injury and was released. She returned six hours later for additional treatment and again was released.

First coal research near Midwest mines

State and federal officials formally dedicated the U.S. Bureau of Mines Research Center near Carbondale, an outgrowth of a coal research program for Illinois announced in October 1974.

The Illinois Research Center will be the only one operated by the Bureau of Mines in the coal-producing area of the Midwest. In the dedication ceremonies, U.S. Bureau of Mines officials presented Southern Illinois University at Carbondale representatives a check for $819,000 to purchase the former SIU School of Technical Careers dormitory property. The dormitory is at Crab Orchard Lake eight miles east of Carbondale. Funds for the purchase are from a $1.5 million appropriation to start up the center.

The SIUC Foundation transferred the three-story brick former dormitory and 2.2 acres of land to the bureau for use as the center, in exchange for the payment. The property will house the fifth federal mining research center. The others are operated by the Bureau of Mines at Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Denver and Spokane.

Trial

video tape made later at Miss Kichler's home in which he allegedly admits climbing in a window, being surprised by Miss Kichler, grabbing a flashlight from her and striking her, and then setting one fire. Also important to the case is the testimony of Granite City Police Detective William Harris who alleged Richmond told him he was in the house by himself and said when the victim dug her fingernails in his arm he grabbed the flashlight from her and struck her and then set both fires.

The first tape, made in the police station the night of Richmond's arrest Labor Day, was shown in its entirety to the jury as he described the interior of Miss Kichler's home, what was in the refrigerator and gave other facts to show he had been in the home. Only portions of the sound were kept from the jury on objections.
In that tape, he names someone he alleged was in the house with him.
In the second video tape, made at the murder scene, Richmond detailed setting a lawn chair under an unlocked kitchen window, crawling through the window, being grabbed by Miss Kichler who sunk her fingernails into his arm, taking a flashlight away from her and striking her once. The jury was allowed to hear only the sound portion on a court order barring the video showing.

In that tape he alleges he opened the kitchen door, let a partner in and then Richmond says he set the fire in the bedroom while his partner set the fire in the living room.
Detective Harris alleged that in his conversation with Richmond, made in the time frame between the two taped statements, Richmond confessed to being in Miss Kichler's home alone while a partner waited outside, and said Miss Kichler grabbed his arm and he grabbed the flashlight from her and struck her.

Harris alleged Richmond told him he may have struck her more than once. He also admitted setting both fires in the house, Harris alleged.
Prosecution authorities said they have attempted to prove Richmond was in the home alone and did not have a partner. They noted Richmond used two different names, saying they were his partner. Both of those young men were released after questioning by police.

All of these points are expected to be reiterated by Trone in his closing argument today. Judge Beatty has allowed each attorney a total of two hours for closing arguments and rebuttal.
Tuesday's activity was mostly in the judge's private chambers as the attorneys argued numerous points of law and whether several exhibits should be admitted into evidence.
The first witness called in open court was Capt. Francis J.

McManus, evidence officer for the Granite City Police Department who testified to handling several pieces of evidence and taking some to the state crime laboratory at Fairview Heights for examination.
Items identified by McManus included a boot allegedly taken from Richmond, blood samples from Richmond and Mrs. Kichler, a saliva sample from Mrs. Kichler, and other items. The next witness Tuesday was William Harris, a Granite City detective, who continued to testify to the route each piece of evidence took from the time it was obtained until the time it arrived in court.

Harris also testified to being at Mrs. Kichler's autopsy and receiving the saliva sample and blood sample at the autopsy.
Dr. Quang Liao, pathologist who conducted the autopsy was the third witness of the day and testified he found five cuts on the victim's head, burns on 75 per cent of her body, a broken skull and smoke and ash dust in her lungs and air pipes.
He concluded from his examination that death had been from smoke inhalation with the broken skull, burns and dust being contributing factors.
Trone also presented James A. Flynn, supervisor of the Illinois Bureau of Identification laboratory at Fairview Heights, who continued the testimony on the chain of evidence, noting the date he received each piece of evidence and when it was returned to the police.
Under cross examination, Flynn testified more than 120 pieces of evidence had been received by the crime laboratory for examination in the murder case.
Dennis Aubuchon, a chemist in the FBI laboratory, testified he had conducted tests on most of the evidence, and had found human blood, type A, in a spot on the boot in evidence.
He also testified to testing the other blood samples, finding both type A and type O blood among the samples.
In cross examination, Aubuchon testified he had found something on 18 other pieces of evidence, but he was halted before he explained what was found.
He said finding something on only that number of items was "less than average."

Lucco noted only the standard blood types of A, B, O, and AB had been tested for when there are several other tests to determine whether blood on evidence matches the blood of a victim or of a criminal.
Aubuchon said he does not have the equipment to determine positive or negative blood factors and had an insufficient quantity of blood on the boot to conduct other tests.
Lucco asked him what percent of the population has type B blood, and the witness answered about 45 per cent. He also said about 40 per cent of the population has type A blood.
Aubuchon was questioned about the precise techniques used in testing the blood samples and the errors which can be made in each. He summarized his line of questioning, saying, "There can not say with absolute certainty that any given sample of blood is from any given source," and Aubuchon answered, "Not with 100 per cent certainty."
He explained the tests, however, are very accurate in determining the blood type and that it is human blood, but there is no way to determine whose blood it is, only that it came from someone of that blood type.
Lucco showed him the boot which had A-type blood on it and sample of saliva from a person with A-type blood and asked him if he could say they were from the same source.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Thurs., Dec. 9, 1976 Page 13

Aubuchon responded, "I have no idea if they were from the same source."
Molteni to admit about 27 pieces of state's evidence then were made and the evidence was admitted by Judge Beatty.
The jury then announced the state rested its case and Judge Beatty called for a one and one-half hour lunch recess.
When court resumed, Lucco called Dr. Lawrence Taliana, clinical psychologist for the Third Judicial Circuit Court, who testified he conducted a total of about 10 hours of testing on Richmond Oct. 16, 20 and 31.
He noted the examination was at the request of Judge Beatty and was being paid for by the county and by the county Mental Health (700). Lucco emphasized the defense had no part in requesting or paying for the examination or report.
There was an objection from Trone to using the test results in the murder trial, but Judge Beatty overruled the objection "on grounds of materiality."
Dr. Taliana said Richmond had difficulty in verbal communication and questions had to be repeated very frequently.
He said Richmond scored a combination of intelligence quotient (IQ) of 40 with an IQ of 75 in verbal skills and an IQ of 88 on performance skills.
He noted the results indicate "a reduced capacity" and some difficulty in understanding verbal communications.
In the IQ results indicate Richmond is "in a borderline area between lower average to mildly retarded." Dr. Taliana also said Richmond scored only in an early fifth-grade level for his reading vocabulary.
The second, and last, defense witness was Dr. Richard Jennings of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, a video tape expert, who testified he studied the video tape of the crime scene reenactment and found the video tape recorder had been turned on and off two times on the tape.
Trone recalled Harris to the stand and Harris testified the machine had been turned on once to test the batteries and a second time for a panorama of the exterior of the house, but when turned on the third time for the reenactment with Richmond, it was not turned off again until the reenactment was completed.
Trone then was adjourned for the day and the jury returned to being sequestered, which it has been since the first juror was selected.
Jurors remained in their motel yesterday while attorneys and Judge Beatty hammered out the fine details of the instructions to be given the jury after the closing arguments today.

Children's library to observe St. Lucia Day

Children's Librarian
St. Lucia Day, Dec. 13, a Swedish Holiday, will be celebrated again this year in the Children's room.
On Monday, at 3:30 p.m. St. Lucia and her attendant will be chosen. Swedish stories told, and appropriate refreshments will be served. Just as is customary in Sweden, children will be allowed to choose what they would like to do best to end the party.

Dough ornaments for the Christmas tree will be made during Making Things Yourself, on Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 3:30 p.m.
The pre-school Christmas storyhour will be Friday, Dec. 17, at 10 p.m. Stories will be read and a special movie for Christmas will be shown.

Reading Club members and any other interested children are reminded of the Reading Club meeting Saturday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m. Those who cannot attend are asked to call Susan Rardin at the Children's room.
A Christmas party and Christmas cookie decorating contest will be held on Monday, Dec. 20, at 3:30 p.m.

Placement test for 8th graders

Eighth grade boys and girls interested in attending Assumption High School in East St. Louis will take the high school placement test on Saturday, Jan. 8.

Students are to report to Assumption at 8:30 a.m. for room assignments and general directions. The testing will be completed by 12:30 p.m. A testing fee of $3 is payable at the time of the test.

Eighth grade students attending Catholic elementary schools have been notified of the test and are to register for it with their school principals. Students who have not been contacted in this manner may register for the test by calling Assumption High School between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays at 397-2796.

The placement test will not be considered an automatic registration for Assumption High School. Freshman registration is a separate process and will be held in the early spring.

Results of the placement test are used along with the student's elementary record and recommendations from the elementary schools as criteria for placing students in courses appropriate to their needs. Particular attention is given to the placement of students in English, mathematics and foreign languages.

South Band to open season on Dec. 16

The Granite City High School South Band will begin its 34th concert season Thursday, Dec. 16 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Utley, Edward Votrupal, Carrie Walker, Phil Whitehead, Dawn Wood and Debra Young.
The first concert will feature Christmas music. The girls will wear formals and the boys will be attired in band uniforms.
Terry A. Waffer is the band director.

Complete 'Messiah' scheduled

Principal Guest Conductor Leonard Slatkin will conduct the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in two performances of the complete "Messiah" Sunday afternoon at 3 and Tuesday evening, Dec. 14, at 8:30.

The Cæmopolitan Singers, directed by Helen Louise Graves, will join the Symphony Orchestra in decorated Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand Blvd. Soloists will be Joan Monasevitch, soprano, Katherine Cleininski, mezzo-soprano, Walter Plante, tenor, and William Rhodes, bass.

The two performances mark the orchestra's first complete presentation of the Messiah by G. F. Handel. There are at least five different editions known to have been performed during Handel's lifetime.

For the two performances, Slatkin will utilize a combination of different elements from the various versions. The solo work is balanced between various members of the quartet, and some of the arias are performed with solo violin, cello and harpsichord continuo only, a practice found in Bach cantata arias and appropriate for performances of the Messiah as well.

The Engineer Corps says it could build a lock and dam with a 1,500-foot lock for $291 million, or $28 million less than it believes it would cost to repair the old locks and dam.
The GAO avoids even agreeing that major repairs are needed.

Its report says its cost projections are "premised on the assumption that extensive rehabilitation of the locks and dam is required." The GAO is launching a further study to determine whether any work at all is needed.

The GAO had been asked to prepare a recommendation for consideration by the U.S. Senate Water Resources Subcommittee, which conducted hearings during the summer.

The senators asked for information on the engineering feasibility of three repair proposals, the Corps plan costing $472 million, a Western Railroad Association plan estimated at $46 million and an Illinois Transportation Department plan priced at $70 million.

The GAO hired a New York engineering firm, Tippetts-Abbett-McCarthy-Stratton, to make the study. Aside from criticizing the Army Engineers for "overestimating the cost," the firm made no final judgments of the other two proposals.

The firm said the Western Railroad plan "may be overly optimistic." It alters the WRA estimate to $84 million and the state plan to $182 million.

The Corps' repair plan includes a temporary cofferdam and lock on the Missouri side of the Mississippi River to handle traffic while repairs are under way.

Tippetts voices doubt about the need for temporary facilities and suggests implementing a Transportation Department idea about a lock in the middle of the present dam.

Tippetts adds that the WRA plan would close the river to traffic for at least three and a half months.

An aide to Sen. Adlai Stevenson (Ill.) said the new report "isn't worth much" but an assistant to Sen. Gaylord Nelson (Wis.), a dam replacement critic, hailed the report as a "reputation of the Corps."

Col. Leon E. McKinney, St. Louis district engineer, said Wednesday a permanent lock in the middle of the dam would cause stress and cause uneven wear on the dam's timber supports.

He said complete rehabilitation of the Alton locks and dam would "shut down an important lifeline to the Midwest and the nation."

The Tippetts firm says the Army in 1968 considered two 1,500-foot locks within the existing dam to be feasible.

Jaycoes to take children shopping

The Granite City Jaycoes will make their annual shopping trip with underprivileged children this Sunday, according to Jaycee Frank Ramsey, a member of the project committee.
Coats and shoes will be furnished for at least 23 youngsters, who will be picked up at home by Jaycee members and taken to a local department store to make their purchases.
Following the shopping trip, the children will be entertained at the Jaycee clubhouse on Poplar Street, Hamburgers, French fries and soft drinks will be served and a toy will be given to each child, Ramsey said.

News notes

Republican congressmen retained John Rhodes (Ariz.) as minority leader, Robert Michel (Ill.) as his assistant and John Anderson (Ill.) as caucus chairman. Democrats named Thomas O'Neill (Mass.) as House speaker, James Wright (Tex.) as majority leader and John Brademas (Ind.) as whip.

Catholic Charities is suing the State Children and Family Services director for $888,000, alleging underpayment of expenses incurred in the care of foster children in Illinois.

A majority of 131 full-time teachers at Belleville Area College has asked Teamsters Local 525 to represent the faculty on pay and benefit issues. The college board will be asked to recognize the local Dec. 16.

Salvation Army Yuletide drive at 36.7 per cent

Rotarians from the Granite City and Madison-Venice Rotary clubs will man the bright red street-corner kettles this weekend, helping to boost total contributions to the Salvation Army's annual "Tree of Lights" fund-raising drive.
Donations to the Christmas appeal today stands at $9,196, Steve Bristol, drive chairman, announced. The amount represents 36.7 per cent of this year's $25,000 goal.

Captain Michael Tompkins, Salvation Army commander, said volunteers from the Granite City Rotary Club will serve as bellringers at various locations Friday.

Madison-Venice Rotarians will seek donations from passersby near 12th Street and Madison Avenue, all day Saturday.

The local Salvation Army officer said 490 applications for Christmas aid have been cleared to date through the Corps' office.

Families and individuals wishing to take part in the annual program may apply, in person, any weekday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the new Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

The deadline for applications to be submitted is Friday, Dec. 17. More than 900 applications will be received prior to the cutoff date, Capt. Tompkins estimated.

Persons whose applications are approved will receive checks to purchase food at designated grocery stores.
Capt. Tompkins said the checks will be mailed Dec. 17 to eligible persons with the exception of families with children who also receive gifts from the Salvation Army's Toy Shop.

Parents will select gifts for their youngsters from over 3,000 toys on Wednesday, Dec. 22, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., and receive their Christmas food checks at the same time.
Capt. Tompkins said 100 baskets also will be delivered to shut-in persons on Dec. 23 and Dec. 24.

Volunteers from the Salvation Army Sunbeams, Girl Scouts and Home League are planning to visit area nursing homes Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 13 and Dec. 14, to distribute gifts and offer Christmas greetings, the officer said.

Among the nursing facilities to be visited this year are Colonial Haven and the Colonades in Granite City; Pleasant Rest, Collinsville; Colonial Manor, O'Fallon; and Anna Henry and Madison County nursing homes, Edwardsville.

About 300 gifts were delivered to hospitalized servicemen Tuesday at Scott Air Force Base Hospital, Belleville, during a 2 1/2 hour visit by local Salvation Army leaders.

More than 1,000 people will be visited by Granite City SA volunteers before the holiday season is over, Capt. Tompkins said.

The annual Christmas dinner for area senior citizens, sponsored by the Salvation Army, will take place Thursday, Dec. 16, at the Corps' new center.

Capt. Tompkins said that due to limited seating (250), reservations are being sought in advance by calling 451-7957. Transportation to the center on East 23rd Street can be arranged, he added.

Traditional Yuletide songs will be sung by the Salvation Army Songsters and Santa Claus will call during a program starting at 11 a.m.

Dinner will be served from noon until 1 p.m. The event is open to all our senior residents, Capt. Tompkins stressed.

STALLED CAR TAKEN
Donna Evans, 1504 Third St., Madison, left her auto in the 2900 block of Washington Avenue about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and when she returned at 5:45 p.m., she found the car had been stolen. It is a black vinyl over white two-door 1968 Plymouth Fury III.

FIRE DAMAGES CAR
A fire of undetermined origin at 6 p.m. Wednesday caused $100 damage to an auto owned by Gary Ely, 2832 Denver St., which was parked at his home. Firemen extinguished the blaze in 13 minutes.

Conrail asks delay in new W. Pontoon signals

Conrail, the federally organized successor to the bankrupt Penn Central railroad system, has petitioned the Illinois Commerce Commission for an extension of time in which to correct defective signal controls at the railroad crossing on West Pontoon Road where several persons have died in train-auto accidents.
The petition asks for a new deadline of April 30, 1977, an extension from the original deadline of March 17 this year. Illinois Central Gulf and Norfolk and Western which maintain three of the four tracks at the crossing, complied with this year's deadline.

The death of Owen Olive, 17, of Granite City on Dec. 27, 1974, sparked protests by residents and motorists who claimed bad timing in operation of crossing gates prompted motorists to drive around lowered gates. Previous fatalities had occurred at the crossing.
The Illinois Commerce Commission ordered a revision of warning devices to be coordinated more appropriately with train speeds.

GC man charged in burglary

David E. Fox, 24, of 2410 W. 20th St., was charged Tuesday with burglary for allegedly removing items from the home of Irene Stoops, 1101 Kirkpatrick Homes, at 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Fox also was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor for allegedly having a juvenile with him during the burglary.

Witnesses alleged seeing two youths carrying items out of the house and placing them in a yellow over white van. One witness followed the van for two blocks when it left Kirkpatrick Homes and provided police with a license number.

Police obtained a search warrant and searched Fox's home at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, allegedly finding a jewelry box, canned goods, a piggy bank and other items taken from the Kirkpatrick apartment.

At 6:40 p.m. Wednesday, Carl A. Stucke, 17, of 2505 Washington Ave., was arrested at his home and was charged with theft. Police alleged finding a radio from Irene Stoops' apartment in Stucke's possession. He was released on $25 bond.

Television from the apartment later was recovered at another location, police said. Still known missing is a camera. The victim is to report to police if she discovers anything else missing.

Fox was taken at 3:20 a.m. today to the Madison County jail at Edwardsville in lieu of $17,000 bond.

Methodist Women install

The United Methodist Women of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in Wesley Hall for installation of officers for the 1977 year and a monthly business meeting.

Newly elected officers were installed by the pastor, the Rev. Roy L. Baugh and his change the following: Janet Wilson, president; Jane Ann Vanseler, vice-president; Wanda Grothaus, secretary; Velva Brewster, treasurer; Betty Williams, Christian personhood; Carol Carpenter, Christian social involvement; Dorothy Frohardt, Christian social concerns; Mary Grohous, program resources; Golda Boyle, membership; Sue Miller and Alice Baugh, local church responsibility and Elsie Henley, publicity.

Circle leaders named were Lucy Weaver, Jane Ann Vanseler, Shirley Lane, Virginia Wolfe, Joni Karand-jeff, Dolores Allen, Janet McGovern, and Ethel Lerch.

Eta Chapter donates to GC organizations

Members of Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority agreed to send donations to the Salvation Army Tree of Lights, Catholic Charities, Protestant Welfare and the Granite City Elks Crippled Children fund, during a business meeting held at the Elks Lodge.

President Miss Hilda Schroeder presided. In addition to sending greeting cards during the Christmas season, the group planned to make philanthropic donations during the year.

The Christmas party will be held on Dec. 28 and will be hosted by the chapter officers it was announced.

Those named to serve as hostesses for the January party were Mary Lou Richeson, Jo Ervay, Betty Krug and Margaret Yackel.

Prizes for the evening were won by Mary Hassler and Miss Schroeder. The next business session is set for Jan. 5.

Cantata Sunday at Trinity Methodist

The Christmas cantata, "A Song Unending," will be presented this Sunday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. at the Trinity United Methodist Church, 25th and Henry Streets. Accompaniment for the choir will be played by Mrs. Joyce Harris, pianist, and Beth Potillo, flute.

Soloists will be Carol Lee, soprano; Edna Jones, alto; Charles Herman, tenor; and Bill Metcalf, baritone.

Narration will be read by the new pastor, the Rev. Paul Bryant.

Choir director, Wanda Robett invites everyone who enjoys hearing music to attend this joyous expression of the Christmas story. Fellowship and refreshments will follow the presentation.

Heimlich Maneuver is chapter topic

James Monaghan presented a program on the "Heimlich Maneuver" and demonstrated techniques to aid people who are choking, to members of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Society.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Jan Monaghan, 141 Briarwood Lane, Monday evening.

President Carol Cathey presided and announced the chapter Christmas party will be hosted at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 20, by Mrs. Barbara Hente in her home, 2708 Joyce Ave.

There will be a gift exchange and members are to bring a half dozen cookies for exchange.

A ways and means project will be the topic of discussion at the Jan. 3 meeting, Mrs. Cathey added.

Others present were Linda Koenig, Marilyn Lumpkins, Donna Lane, Joan Pritchard, Barbara Jones and Barbara Hente.

Minerva Club plans Christmas party

Plans for a Christmas party were finalized by the Minerva Woman's Club at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Betty Skirball.

Mrs. Donna Halbert, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Committee reports were given on the success of a Hobby Auction, sponsored by the club last month.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Barbara Barr, Beverly Benoit, Phyllis Brusatti, Zola Burgess, Cathy Busch, Joyce Harris, Arlene Laub, Fay Mercer, Pat Merz, Marianne Monaghan, Clara Parker, Charlotte Rapp, Margaret Rehagen, Peggy Solberger, Mary Tardiff, Ed Weiss and Miss Elaine Shipco.

Names of the newly formed circles for the ensuing year were read.

Mrs. Shirley Busbie and Mrs. Ethel Lerch greeted 40 members and guests on arrival, followed by Linda Holder and Mary Hemphill leading the opening prayer and thoughts of devotion for the season.

Members participated in the response.

During the meeting a Christmas tree was decorated by the group who placed white Christmas symbols on the tree and arranged figures, made by Carol Carpenter, under the tree.

President Mrs. Wilson led the pledge of service and Christmas offering which will be donated to mission projects of the church.

She also presided at the business session and presented each of the retiring officers with a Christmas red carnation in appreciation of their co-operation during the year.

Author to attend Fairview book show

Mike Peters, creator and author of the cartoon book "Nixon Chronicles" will be at the Walden Book Co. at St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights, Saturday noon until 2 p.m.

Peters is the son-in-law of Paul and Marguerite Connole, formerly of Madison, and son of Mrs. Charlotte Peters, a St. Louis television personality.

Shortly after his book was published by Lorenz, Dayton, Ohio, Peters was invited to lunch with President Gerald Ford who is the subject of some of the cartoons.

No mass political firings expected

By BOB ESTILL.
SPRINGFIELD — State GOP Chairman Don Adams doesn't look for the state of Illinois to purge payrolls of people in non-administrative posts to make room for their own party faithful.

"Those days are over," Adams says.

"There won't be any mass firings. That's because of the legal decisions (against firing employees for political reasons) and because the new breed doesn't believe that's the best way to administer state office."

"And I think that's understood and accepted by party people."

Adams includes all of the state office winners in his statement there won't be any mass state firings, but Republican Gov.-elect James Thompson is the only one who would be in a position to make changes in great numbers.

Adams may be oversteering the case when he says flatly there won't be any mass firings. Thompson made it clear during the campaign that he doesn't regard patronage as a dirty word and thinks qualified Republicans can be found for patronage jobs. He said the Illinois system provides for both patronage and merit hiring, and he saw no reason to change the system.

Adams concedes there will be some job changing but says it won't be on the scale of prior changes in administration. He also says GOP State headquarters so far hasn't been "inundated" with job-seekers.

While saying he doesn't think there will be mass firings, Adams suggests job-holders should resign if their partisanship interferes with their ability to do a job while working for an office-holder of another party.

The other state winners don't have that many jobs under their control or aren't in a position to be making changes. State Treasurer Alan Dixon, the secretary of state-elect, will be moving into the office with the second largest number of patronage jobs, but he is a Democrat succeeding a Democrat, Atty. Gen. William Scott, a Republican, was re-elected. Comptroller-elect Michael Bakalis, the only Democrat succeeding a Republican incumbent, will have only about 400 jobs, and many of them are technical.

Adams, incidentally, now has been chairman of the Republican State Central Committee during one of the party's bigger Illinois victories and one of its worst defeats.

He became chairman in the summer of 1973 and watched Republicans get clobbered in November of 1974. He doesn't claim responsibility for that debacle, saying he became chairman "in the middle of the Watergate mess."

However, Adams does credit the State Central Committee as one of the important factors in the victory this time, saying it worked with the candidates better than Fewer prisoner 'leaves'

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — The numbers of unsupervised inmates taken by inmates in Illinois prisons has been nearly halved in the last year.

The furlough program, which came under heavy attack in the past after some furloughed inmates were accused of committing new crimes while free in the community, now is averaging only about seven furloughs a week, according to Acting Corrections Director Charles Rowe.

During the last 19 weeks, 133 furloughs have been approved. In a slightly shorter period last year, a 15-week spread ending in October, 1975, there were 184 furloughs taken by inmates, an average of 12 a week.

Rowe said the decline, in spite of higher overall population in the institutions from last year, reflects a "far more conservative" view of furloughs by the present administration of the Corrections Department.

The furlough program, authorized by the Illinois legislature some time ago, first began to be used extensively during the period when Allyn Sleafaff was director of the department. Sleafaff since has left the state to take a similar position in Wisconsin, and was succeeded here by Rowe as acting director.

A couple of years ago the department followed a program of increasing the numbers on furlough broadly during the Christmas holidays, a policy which was strongly protested by some law enforcement officials in northern Illinois.

Rowe said, there will be no special furlough program in effect for the holiday, and no increased numbers of prisoners on furlough is expected during the holiday period.

Most unsupervised home furloughs are for 72 hours, and department records indicate that the "success rate" — the rate of releases compared with the rate of incidents such as not returning or being charged with new offenses — is remaining above 99 percent. That figure has been at state tribunals in the past from various correctional and law enforcement bodies throughout the country.

Phil Shayne, who supervises the furlough program for the department, said that there were no incidents reported in April (the first month for which this information was added to the reports this year), nor in June, August or September. There was one incident reported in July but Shayne said the report didn't specify what it was.

However, he added, the inmate involved was apparently not arrested and charged with anything. "So it must not have been too serious," in May, one furloughed inmate was late in returning to the institution from which he had been released, he said, the only incident reported that month.

Only those inmates who are within six months of their next parole hearing, or who have six months or less to serve before being released after serving their full terms, are eligible for the home furloughs, Rowe said.

Many of the men who receive them, he added, already have been granted parole, and they use the furlough period to look for jobs they can start when they are released.

Operator Please Speak to My Dog" or "The Laughter and Tears, the Last 100 Years" was the topic of a program presented by Carl Marr of the Illinois Bell Co., Tuesday night, at a meeting of Nu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Society.

Members met in the home of Mrs. Carolyn Morelen, 2209 Washington Ave., and the president, Mrs. Judy Haven presided.

She expressed special thanks to the members who assisted at the swine flu clinic and announced a holiday pot luck party will be held in the home of Mrs. Sherry Whaley on Dec. 21.

Plans were discussed on attending the Plantation Dinner Theater in January. A collection of canned foods to be given to a needy family, followed.

After the meeting a white elephant sale was held and a dessert luncheon served by the hostess. Those attending were Cheryl Barton, Amy Brasfield, Laura Melvov, Margaret Willard, Donna Shaffer, Sherry Whaley, Leoma Macke, Barbara Birchler, Lynette Cook and Linda McKeenan.

Peggy Ellen King married in Hawaii

Miss Peggy Ellen King and Robert J. Theda Jr. were united in marriage at 12 noon on Oct. 7, in the courtyard of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, Waikiki Beach, Oahu.

The Rev. George Vaughn officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Traditional wedding Maile interwoven with Pikake were worn by the bride and groom. Following the service, the newlywed couple were joined by a group of friends at the Surf Room for a celebration.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. King, 2509 Hemlock Ave. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Theda Sr. of Portland, Ore.

After their visit on Oahu and Maui, the couple returned to Portland where they will reside.

The former Miss King is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she majored in special and elementary education. She worked for the Green Construction Co., Five Mile, Alaska for one year and is now enrolled at Portland State University.

A 1969 graduate of Beaverton High School, Beaverton, Ore., the groom also attended Portland Community College. He is now an employee of Associated Green Construction Co., Fairbanks, Alaska.

Emmanuel Baptist events

Ben Ward, chairman of the ushers of Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pontoon Road, will be singing Sunday afternoon at the John Cochran Veterans' Hospital in St. Louis.

The Festival of Christmas Hymns portion of the new Christmas musical by Bill and Gloria Gaither will be used and the orchestrated accompaniment tape is conducted by Ron Huff.

Soloists and narrators include Marcy Thurman, James Thurman, Dale Parker, Tom Carpenter, Tammy Pounds, Barbara Keelin, Marcia Stagner and Cathy Howard and Vicki Johnson. The Youth choir met previously and baked cookies to distribute among the patients.

The Bethany Class will hold its annual Christmas party Friday with a catered dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Instead of exchanging gifts, each member is donating $2 toward a class offering of the church's mission Christmas offering, "Lottie Moon," according to Mrs. Eileen Badgett, class teacher.

BAND PARENTS
The schedules of both the Granite City High School South Concert and Stage bands will be the main topic of discussion Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the band room of the school where the regular monthly meeting of the South Band Parents is scheduled to be held.

Two more Festivals of Giving planned

The remaining two Festivals of Giving events in the Quad-City area will be held Sunday for Brownie and Girl Scout Troops in Neighborhood Five and on Sunday, Dec. 19, for members of Neighborhood One.

Mrs. Margot Clements, chairman of Neighborhood Five, reported the family and scout program will be held from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday at Nameoki School.

The 350 scouts in that area have made arrangements to donate their baskets to Concordia Lutheran Church for distribution to area families in need. Each troop will perform skits followed by trimming a Christmas tree to be left for the school.

Neighborhood One, which includes Browlie and Girl Scout Troops in the Madison and Venice area, will meet from 1 to 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19, at the Madison Recreation Center, according to Mrs. Judy Donaldson, neighborhood chairman.

They have prepared baskets for four families and will be entertained by a visit from Santa and participate in a yuletide singing fest. Refreshments will be served after the scouts present skits.

Shower honors Susan Province

Miss Susan Marie Province was complimented at a bridal shower given, Sunday afternoon, at the Mitchell United Presbyterian Church, by Sherrie Marcum. Assisting with the event were Linda Bennett, Janet Bunselmeyer, Alice Ann Cotter, Karen Marcus, Laurie Morris and Peggy Smith.

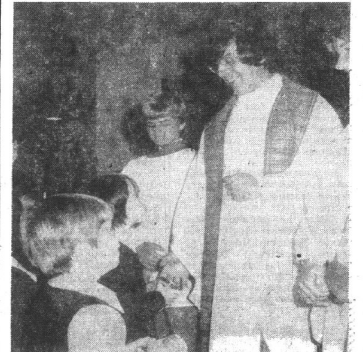

Games were played followed by the honoree opening her gifts.

A buffet luncheon was served by the hostesses to Mrs. Alice Province, mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Martha Anderson, mother of the prospective groom and other guests. Mesdames Neil Province, Laura Bopp, Julia Province, Barbara DiDonato, Joann Cotter, Bunia Talley, Sue Daugherty, Carol Denny, Abby Daugherty, Carolyn Gail, Jean Meyer, Nancy Myers.

Mesdames Lorraine Prokopich, Katie Raugh, Hargiet Bunselmeyer, Nancy Marcum, Nora Morris, Elizabeth Briggs, Keshia Jackson, Iva Harrell, Eileen Anderson, Evelyn Smith, Alice Rumpf, Beverly Thompson, Doris Ann Anderson, Pat Pool and Verna Wilson.

Misses Janice Bopp, Terry Schmitt, Shelley Warnhoff, Jessica Daugherty, Amie Gall, Sandy Meyers, Michelle Prokopich, Pixie Marcum and Lisa Harrell.

The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie G. Province, 539 English Place and will be married to Dale A. Anderson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Anderson, 4016 Division St., Jan. 29, at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

WORN MOCCASIN AWARD. Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr. was presented the Worn Moccasin Award of the Great Central Area, North Central Region, Boy Scouts of America. Dr. Wilkins, representing the National Council of the Boy Scouts, has conducted over 100 inspections of Boy Scout summer camp programs. (Press-Record Photo)

Steal purse, then try to cash check taken from it

Authorities are seeking a man and a woman believed involved in stealing a purse from Mrs. Lieselotte Stipe, 2624 Center St., while Mrs. Stipe was shopping in the K-Mart Store, and then attempting to cash a check taken from the purse in Schnuck's Market, 3801 Namekiki Road, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Stipe said a young woman approached her in K-Mart and started a conversation while placing her coat on top of Mrs. Stipe's purse in a shopping cart. The purse was noticed missing after the woman had departed and later was found in a parking lot with $15 in cash and a check book missing. A clerk at Schnuck's Market said one of the Stipe checks was presented to be cashed in the market a short time later by a young woman who was accompanied by a man, but the couple fled when the clerk noted a discrepancy in names on the check.

The woman is described as being about 5 feet, 5 inches tall with light brown hair and wearing blue jeans and a brown coat with an attached hood. The man is said to be 6 feet tall, about 32 with dark brown hair and wearing a long, dark colored overcoat.

Youth injured July 7 still hospitalized

Edmund Michael Szczepanik, 18, of 2329 Gary Ave., was in "slightly improved condition" today in Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, his father told the Press-Record.

Szczepanik has been in critical condition since he was struck by a car on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville July 7.

He is not considered in a coma now, but does not respond yet to voices or sound, his father said.

After the accident, Szczepanik spent 41 days in Wood River Township Hospital, 49 days in Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, and 28 days in St. Elizabeth Hospital before being transferred to a rehabilitation ward at Jewish Hospital Nov. 1.

His parents Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Szczepanik Sr., have moved to 2386 Dwight Drive, in the Foreman Heights subdivision.

$8,000 fire on Adams St.

Fire at the home of John Root, 2420 Adams St., at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday caused an estimated $8,000 damage. Firemen fought the blaze for one hour and 40 minutes.

The fire was believed to have started either in a bed or in a stuffed chair in the north upstairs bedroom of the one and one-half story frame house. A spark, possibly from a cigarette, may have been responsible, authorities said.

Three Granite City Fire Department pumps were called to the scene and directed water onto the fire, both from the roof of Root's home and from a neighbor's roof.

Damage was estimated at $4,500 to the building and $3,500 to the contents.

EQUIPMENT STOLEN
A scrapper weighing more than 500 pounds was removed from a construction tractor owned by A-1 Rental of Collinsville from where it was parked overnight at 1200 West Pontoon Road, it was reported at 11 a.m. Tuesday by Leon Tippit. Value was set at $350.

Pill hazards to be listed

Women who buy birth control pills soon will also get a brochure from their pharmacists that lists hazards and benefits of the medication.

The Food and Drug Administration announced this week it plans to require that a new brochure be given to each of the eight million to ten million American women who use the pill.

The brochures would be supplied by drug companies to pharmacists, who would enclose one each time a woman got a new or renewal prescription.

The brochure will explain the health hazards that have been linked to the pill. Until now, such information has been available from a woman's doctor only if she requested it, the FDA said.

It will also tell women that the pill has been shown to be the most effective contraceptive on the market.

The new brochure would advise women that birth control pills:

1. Should not be taken by women over the age of 40 because of the increased risk of heart attacks.
2. Should never be taken by pregnant women because they may injure the fetus.
3. Should be discontinued three months before a woman tries to become pregnant, to avoid potential birth defects.
4. Should be discontinued at least four weeks before any type of surgery that would involve increased risk of blood clotting or prolonged bed rest, because pill users are four to six times more likely to have blood clots after surgery than those not on the pill.
5. Appear to be associated with nonmalignant liver tumors, which, although rare, can be fatal if they rupture and result in internal bleeding.
6. Have not been linked to cancer, although women taking them should be carefully monitored by their doctors for abnormal uterine bleeding and lumps in the breasts.

HAROLD GUTHER, speaker at a "Death and Taxes" meeting on Dec. 15.

Death, taxes to be topics

Madison County farmers on Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 1:30 p.m. will attend a program on "Death and Taxes" at the Farm Bureau Auditorium, 900 Hillside, Edwardsville.

Harold Guither, a University of Illinois Extension Service economist, will be the speaker. He was responsible for the development of the Extension program, "Who Will Control U.S. Agriculture?"

The program will cover the Tax Reform Act of 1976 and what this major tax reform act means to farm property owners, a spokesman said.

The 1976 Tax Reform Act raised the amount of the estate that can be transferred without tax, through a system of tax credits that increase from $50,000 in 1977 to $47,000 in 1981.

Some farm property owners will also benefit from a provision that allows valuation of farm property on its use for farm production rather than upon its market value.

Smoking and emphysema club topic

A film was shown on cigarette smoking as the major cause of emphysema to the Granite City Evening Kiwanis Club at its Tuesday evening meeting in Charlie's Restaurant.

Presenting the program was Mrs. Billie Berth of the Lewis-Clark Lung Association.

Informative leaflets will be furnished to interested persons who write the association at P.O. Box 184, Wood River, Ill. 62095, according to Mrs. Berth.

Ethnic potluck dinner at South

The third annual Ethnic Literature classes pot luck luncheon will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Granite City High School South cafeteria with 70 students participating.

The students each are to bring covered dishes of foreign countries to share with each other. About 10 countries will be represented.

After the ethnic style pot luck dinner the students will participate in folk dancing of different countries.

South faculty members sponsoring the event are Mrs. Wendy Kambarian, Mrs. Cynthia Hornell and Miss Helen Veld.

Driver hurt

Miss Enid Mc-Cox, 17, of 2511 East 24th St. was injured at 6:20 p.m. Monday when an auto she was driving near Niedringhaus and Madison avenues collided with a taxicab driven by Rubin D. Clatts, 23, of 2202 West 23rd St.

Miss Cox said she was driving west on Niedringhaus Avenue and upon applying the brakes her auto skidded into the side of the auto driven by Clatts.

She was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a bump to the left side of her head and released.

Norfolk, Western rail improvements

Norfolk and Western Railway plans to spend about $110 million for capital improvements next year, the same amount it is spending in 1976.

Robert B. Clayton, NW executive vice-president, said the 1977 budget will place increased emphasis on roadway improvements. These will account for 52 per cent of the planned 1977 spending, compared with 39 per cent this year.

The major track-related improvement item in the budget is laying of 510 track miles of rail, mostly in continuous welded rail installations.

In related non-capital-item work, NW will halve 2,929 miles of track and install 1.2 million crossties.

The railroad plans to begin rehabilitation of its Wayne Branch in West Virginia to accommodate large-scale coal shipments from a mine opening soon on that line, and will continue its yard rehabilitation program.

NW also plans to build new freight car repair shops at Chicago, at Elmore, W. Va., and at Bluefield, W. Va., and to begin work on a new $3.3 million locomotive inspection and repair facility at Bellevue, Ohio.

Two additional portions of NW's system will be placed under centralized traffic control in projects beginning this year.

2 hurt in bus, auto crash

Mrs. Judith A. Padgett, 34, of 2219 Delmar Ave., and her daughter Martha R. Padgett, 4, were injured at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the 2400 Block of Missouri Avenue when an auto driven by Mrs. Padgett skidded on icy pavement striking the rear of a school bus driven by Mary M. Hunt, 701 28th Street.

It was reported that both vehicles were northbound on Missouri Avenue when the bus attempted a right turn onto 28th Street but slid on the pavement. The Padgett auto then slid into the right rear of the bus when the brakes were applied, reports said.

None of the 30 students, or the driver, aboard the bus were injured.

Mrs. Padgett was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for stiffness to her neck and shoulders and her daughter for a bump to her nose. Both were released.

Rites held for Duce Oluski, 66

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. Monday at a funeral home in El Paso, Tex., for Duce Oluski, 66, of El Paso, formerly of Madison.

He died Dec. 3 in a hospital in El Paso following open heart surgery.

A native of Yugoslavia, Mr. Oluski resided in Madison for many years prior to moving to Texas 22 years ago.

He was employed through the International Operating Engineers Union. While residing here he belonged to the Serbian Holy Trinity Orthodox Church in St. Louis.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lucille Oluski; one son, William C. Oluski of El Paso; four sisters, Mrs. Olga Dvoracek of Granite City and three sisters who reside in St. Louis.

Burial was in Restlawn Cemetery, El Paso.

Mrs. Lois Lester circle hostess

Mrs. Lois Lester, 3729 Washington Ave., was hostess to Charity Circle of Niederrhine United Methodist Church and Mrs. Gladys Potts presented the lesson and devotions.

The Christmas story taken from the book Luke and a poem entitled "He Was One of Us" by Helen Steiner Rice was read by Mrs. Potts.

Mrs. Ethel Lerch conducted the meeting and gave a report on the holiday bazaar. She announced the eight circles of United Methodist Women will resume in January following reassignments in different groups.

A dessert luncheon was served at festive decorated tables in keeping with the holiday season.

Others attending were Madam Golda Boyle, Dora Youngs, Edna Myers, Edna Lynn, Olivia Lehman, Elsie Hensley, Velva Brewster, Pearl Albom, Miss Virginia Segar and Miss Nellie Hart.

Anti-trust settlement to aid state tax agencies

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott announced today that 1,467 Illinois public agencies, school districts, and other political subdivisions will receive more than $200,000 as their share of a $20.6 million national settlement in a treble damage antitrust suit against major manufacturers of keys and locks.

Attorney General Scott said notice of distribution of the settlement fund will be sent within the next two weeks to those Illinois agencies that qualify for the repayments because they have constructed structures having master key systems since 1950.

Scott brought the suit in 1972 in U. S. District Court in Hartford, Conn., in conjunction with 15 other states and the city of Philadelphia. The suit charges that four manufacturers of finish hardware had fixed prices and restrained competition in the sale of locksets, door closers, exit devices and related hardware that was installed in public buildings constructed between 1950 and 1970.

After three years of discovery into the alleged antitrust violations, Illinois obtained pretrial settlements with two of the defendants, the Emhart Corporation of Berlin, Conn. (with brand names of Russwin and Corbin) and Iico Corporation, Fitchburg, Mass. (makers of Iico keys and Lockwood locks). Under the settlements, more than $8 million was refunded to public agencies in the United States.

Trial against Eaton Corp., Cleveland, Ohio, (Yale and Towne Division) and Sargent & Company, New Haven, Conn. (makers of Sargent locks) began Sept. 21, in the U. S.

District Court in Hartford. On Nov. 3, the last two defendants agreed to pay $12.6 million in settlement of the litigation.

The other 15 states that joined with Illinois in the suit are Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Colorado, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Florida, and Kansas.

Additionally, Kentucky, South Dakota, New Mexico, Iowa and Maryland filed appearances in the litigation through their attorneys general. A suit by private builders was consolidated with the states suit.

Prior to the distribution, money from the settlement has been deposited in escrow accounts and invested in interest bearing securities with the interest to be added to the settlement funds.

GC to cut off sewer service if fees become delinquent

Granite City council members concurred Tuesday night in a proposal that sanitary sewer lines be disconnected at the homes of residents who become delinquent in payment of sewer usage or treatment fees.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Assistant City Attorney Irvin Slate who noted that "we have filed many cases in small claims court to collect sewer charges."

In a letter to the council, Slate said: "As you know, we have filed many cases in small claims court to collect sewer charges and sewer treatment plant charges. The treatment plant ordinance (3284) contains a provision authorizing the city treasurer to discontinue service if the charges are not paid."

"It is my recommendation that the treasurer consider such a procedure. He could use the services of the street department or could advertise for bids and obtain a contractor to cut off sewer service."

"I recommend that the treasurer send a letter to the delinquent treatment plant user with a copy to the owner of the property, a copy of which is attached hereto for reference. If the delinquent charges are not paid within the time specified in the letter, then the street department or the contractor should place their backhoe in front of the property and prepare to disconnect the sewer."

In order to be certain that the correct house is being disconnected, the contractor or street department employee should knock on the door and inform the party that the sewer is to be disconnected the following morning at 9 a.m.

"Of course, if the charge is paid in time, the equipment will be removed and there will be no disconnection. If the charge is not paid, then the sewer will be disconnected and there will be no reconnection unless all back charges together with costs to disconnect and costs to reconnect are paid in full or satisfactory arrangement therefor has been made.

"It is expected that this procedure will expedite collections and thereby benefit those citizens who pay their sewer charges on time."

All Granite City sewer users now pay sewage treatment fees at the rate of $2 per month bill on a basis of $6 per quarter.

Sewer usage charges are collected only in Particular Area 4 of the Narmook area at a rate of $9.50 per month, while residents of Particular Area 3 pay $2.50 per month.

The proposal to use sewer cutoffs as a means to expedite treatment and usage collections was protested by several aldermen.

Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward made a motion that the city comply with Slate's recommendation, but Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward told the aldermen: "We had this same suggestion some years back under a diferent administration and the city attorney at that time told us there was no way that we could cut off sewer service to the people."

Roy Paulos, alderman of the Third Ward, replied that "I think we should have done this (cut off service) a long time ago. The city is no different than any utility. If you don't pay your light bill or your phone bill, the service is cut off. We should do the same thing."

Steve Basarich of the Fifth Ward agreed with Whitmer. "We can't shut off service as we'd get in trouble with the health department," he said.

Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward said the matter should be covered in the bond ordinance and suggested that it be checked. City Attorney George Filloff said that Slate already had done that, pointing to Slate's letter in which it was noted that the ordinance contains a provision authorizing the city treasurer to cut off service for non-payment of fees.

The motion by Dawes to concur was approved unanimously on a voice vote.

Traffic deaths down due to lower speeds

More people driving vehicles at 55 miles per hour means fewer traffic deaths on the nation's highways. Since the inception of the 55 miles-per-hour speed limit in 1974, national figures indicate traffic volume and miles traveled have returned to the 1973 level, but traffic deaths are down 17 per cent.

Illinois also has a lower per capita rate as indicated by provisional figures released Wednesday by Captain Albert J. Bertagnoli, state police district commander, Maryville.

Captain Bertagnoli said that during November, 23 persons were killed as the result of 31 accidents. One hundred-thirty-nine persons were killed in 1974, nine under the same 11 month period in 1975.

District 11 troopers investigated a total of 351 traffic accidents in November, bringing the total for 11 months of the year to 4,333.

Initial statewide figures indicate 124 persons died from injuries sustained from traffic accidents, bringing the total killed to 1,894, 50 less than the same time period in 1975.

Break ground for Two-inch snow hits area Maryville Road

Granite City and county officials participated Tuesday in groundbreaking ceremonies to signify the beginning of the Maryville Road improvement which will extend Maryville Road from Pontoon Road to Highway 162.

Wielding shovels at the groundbreaking—through two inches of snow—were Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City, County Board Member Arthur "Cooper" Moore of Venice, chairman of the county highways committee, County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and County Board Member William Webb of Granite City who was in charge of acquiring right-of-way for the county's portion of the project.

The joint city-county project, which will be built at a cost of $3.2 million under a contract with Hoeffken Bros. Construction Co. of Belleville, has been in the planning stage for the past ten years.

Schuler told a regular council meeting Tuesday night that he was told by representatives of the contracting firm that the builders will shoot for a completion target date in late September next year.

In a related action, council members approved an appropriation of $685,000 in motor fuel tax funds to pay the city's share of the work.

Madison County will finance the city's share of the building cost and will be repaid by the city at $10,000 per month.

11 recovering after surgery

Patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital who have undergone major surgery since Monday: Tecla Hoff, 125 Abbott St. Venice; Ronald Jackson, 2325 East 23rd St.; Joseph Molnar, 2037 Lee Ave.; Grace Peppers, Edwardsville; Joseph Reeves, 2928 Washington Ave.; Grady Simpson, 2569 Circle Drive. Elizabeth Cope, 2448 State St.; Esther McCosky, 2818 Victory Drive; Carol Meyer, East St. Louis; Marie Parizon, 1728 Spruce St.; Joseph Pisel, 4281 East Lake Drive.

The first major snowfall of the winter season hit the Quad-City area Monday night and Tuesday morning, snarling traffic during rush hours and causing a rash of minor accidents but no major damage. Two inches of snow accumulated before ending late Tuesday morning. Severe cold accompanied the snow, sending the temperature down to 5 degrees Tuesday morning and adding to the woes of motorists who were plagued with slippery roadways, frozen car doors and balky motors.

Winds of 15 miles per hour Tuesday morning pushed the wind-chill factor to 25 degrees below zero. Garages, service stations and motorists service organizations reported a rush of calls, many of them from motorists whose doors were frozen shut. Many persons were late for work.

Tuesday's cold was a continuation of nearly a week of low temperatures that arrived about a month earlier than usual, according to weather bureau officials.

This week's snowfall was equivalent to .35 of an inch precipitation, and followed rain on Sunday night and Monday morning that measured .18 of an inch before changing to snow. The weather was blamed by authorities for a rash of auto accidents which kept area police departments busy during a 14-hour period between 6 p.m.

Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday. A highway department spokesman said a lack of traffic volume added to the problems. A combined total of 45 accidents was noted during the time span by state, county, Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach police departments.

Granite City authorities handled 13 accidents, three of which involved injuries, and state police also reported 13 accidents of which two involved injuries.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department topped the list with 15 accidents, two with injuries. Pontoon Beach reported two, and Madison and Venice one each.

Authorities said that the total did not include accidents which were not reported, such as vehicles going into ditches.

Pontoon Beach police apparently were accident free until 8 a.m. Tuesday when an auto slowed in an attempt to turn right from the southbound lanes of Route 111 near the First Church of the Nazarene, 4701 North Hwy. 111, and four vehicles behind it could not stop in time on the icy roadway. Minutes later two more vehicles crashed into the wreckage blocked highway.

No injuries resulted, but one driver perhaps was injured emotionally since she exclaimed, "My new car, I just made a second payment on it last week." Police said the woman's auto suffered extensive damage. At least three auto could be viewed sitting in ditches which divided the southbound and northbound lanes of Route 111 between Pontoon Road and Interstate 270 prior to the multiple-car pileup.

A maintenance department spokesman of the Illinois Department of Transportation District office said the storm struck the area at an unfortunate time in relation to efforts by the department's workers to prevent roadways from becoming hazardous.

"The department's policy in preparing for a storm is to apply treatment to bridges and overpasses immediately, and then wait for the storm to strike before applying salt and chemicals to streets and highways."

"Once we work on the roadways, normally the volume of traffic works the chemicals into the ice and snow and then we send in the plowing equipment and later apply a second load of salt and chemicals."

He continued, "We had trucks and cars out all night and could not make any headway because the volume of traffic was so light it couldn't get the job done."

"Therefore, when the early morning rush started, the roadways were still extremely slippery and dangerous."

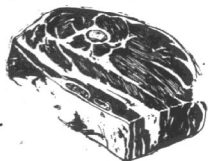

BABY IS HURT

Gary Aaron, 2 months old, of 1308 Meridian Ave., fell off the seat when the auto in which he was a passenger was struck from behind during the weekend. He was examined at St. Elizabeth Hospital for minor injuries and was released.

GC Steel medical director addresses hygienists meet

A local physician was the featured speaker at last night's meeting of the St. Louis Section, American Industrial Hygienists Association (AIHA), at the Cheshire Inn. He is Dr. Donald L. Coleman, medical director for Granite City Steel and a native of Granite City.

Dr. Coleman spoke on the topic, "Profitability, Productivity, Safety and the Medical Director—Don't Knock the Doc, He May Be Able to Help You."

Each one of the elements in his speech title was explained by Dr. Coleman, as he explained the role of the plant physician or medical director. He said that his is closely committed to all three factors in business—helping it make a profit, helping it become more productive and helping employees work in a safer, more hygienic atmosphere.

Relating his talk specifically to his work at Granite City Steel, Dr. Coleman told of the new standards just established by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) for coke ovens workers, as well as how the standards are being implemented at Granite City Steel.

Among the consequences to the company, he cited increased costs for physical examinations, much greater record-keeping and administrative chores, and much greater expense in providing extra safeguards for coke ovens employees. Dr. Coleman suggested ways the medical director and his staff can help meet OSHA standards.

For smaller companies that have no medical staff, Dr. Coleman suggested alternatives they could use to furnish medical services for their employees. He also spoke of the role hygienists play in industrial situations—and proposed that business management pay special attention to providing medical services.

The St. Louis Section of the AIHA has over 50 members. Its president is another Granite City Steel man, Dr. John G. Manda, director-Environmental Quality Control.

Fire station dedication

Dedication of Granite City's new fire station at Richmond Avenue and Johnson Road will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, followed by open house schedules for public visitation on Saturday and Sunday, it was announced yesterday by Fire Chief Dan Parente.

Parente said a ribbon cutting in which Mayor Paul Schuler and other city officials will participate, will be held at 11 a.m. An open house for public inspection will begin at noon and continue until 5 p.m.

On Sunday, the new fire station will be open to public inspection from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Fire Department equipment and furnishings will be moved into the new station house from the Nameoki Station Friday, the fire chief said.

The new station, built at a cost of $125,000 with federal revenue sharing funds, will replace the Nameoki station. Plans to build the new station were made when it became apparent that mounting traffic problems on Nameoki Road would make it more and more difficult for fire engines to get onto Nameoki Road from the present station.

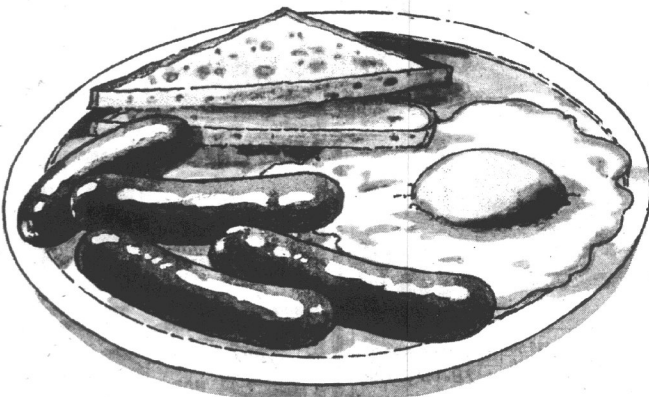

DR. DONALD L. COLEMAN, medical director of Granite City Steel, discussed commitments of plant physician or medical director in establishing safer and healthier atmosphere for employees, at a meeting of the St. Louis Section, American Industrial Hygienists Association at the Cheshire Inn, St. Louis, Wednesday night.

HURT IN ACCIDENT
Miss Reava Rippey, 22, of 1308 Miracle Ave., was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital early this week after an auto accident. She suffered a bruise around her right eye and pain to her neck. A series of x-rays was taken.

JAN ROSE
U of I eager

Jan Rose to play on U.I. basketball team

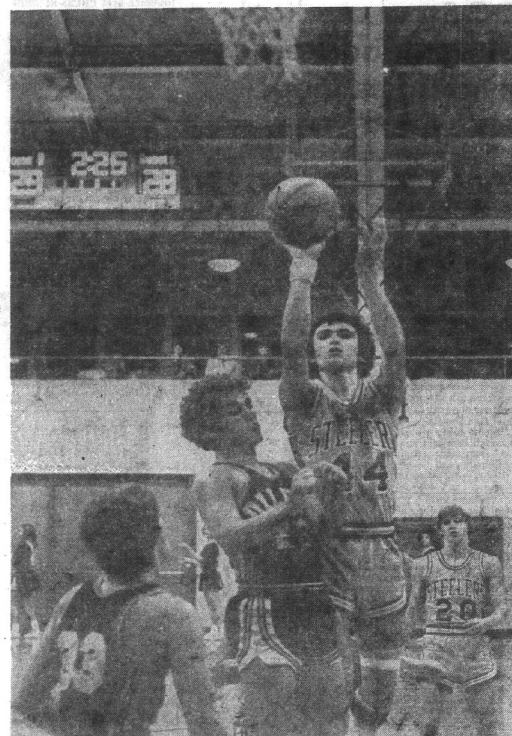

Jan Rose, a 1976 graduate of GCHS North, has been selected to play with the University of Illinois Women's Inter-Collegiate basketball team by Coach Carla Thompson.

A freshman at Champaign,

Miss Rose was a member of North High's basketball team three years, playing forward and guard positions with the 1975-76 Steelettes which won consolation honors of the initial GCHS North invitational tournament.

One of three freshmen on the team, Miss Rose is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Rose of Granite City. She is majoring in physical education in hopes of becoming an athletic medical trainer.

Miss Rose will see action on Dec. 9 when the U of I team opens its 1976-77 season against Indiana State. On Dec. 11, the squad will face last year's champion, Illinois State at Normal.

SLIM LEAD is widened as Jerry Barnett (44) shoots a layup during third-quarter play. The Steelers had led the Wood River Oilers by one point before Barnett's shot. He led the Steelers with 17 points. Other players pictured are David Sever (33) and Carl Bowermaster (23) of the Oilers and Alan Warfield (20) of the Steelers.

WHO HAS WHOM? Steeler Tracy Patton, facing camera, and his opponent Bryan Wickles of the Belleville East Lancers seem to have each other tied up during their bout Tuesday night at the North High gymnasium. Despite this precarious position, Patton won the 112-pound weight class bout decisively, 22-4. The North mat team was victorious, 38-15, over the visiting Lancers.

Steelers beat Lancers and remain undefeated

GCHS North's wrestling team remains undefeated with four wins against no losses, "manhandling" visiting Belleville East 38-15 Tuesday night.

The Lancers, considered by North mentor Walt Whitaker as one of the most capable teams on the Steeler schedule, jumped out in front with a 2-0 win over Steeler Bob Kirgan in the 96-pound bout. The opening win, however, failed to generate winning momentum as North swept to victory in the next four matches.

Kris Whelan (105) won by a pin in 2:49, Tracy Patton (112) won a 25-4 decision, Keith Whelan (119) won by forfeit and Matt McCullough (126) won 17-10.

East gained a 5-4 decision over Steve Hasler (132) but then lost 7-5 to Steeler John Sands (138) before winning two in a row, 7-5 over Ray Stuart (145) and in 1:16 over Doug Rains (150).

North captured the remaining three bouts — Steve Hartline (187) vs. Mark Widel (185) 5-15 and heavyweight James Shemwell on a forfeit.

The large crowd was cheered by the Steelers' success and also by the presence of North High musicians and related units.

Younger Steeler wrestlers also demonstrated their prowess during the evening.

Bowler, 17, is honored

Miss Beth Damron, 17, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Damron of Granite City, is a senior at GCHS South, a participant in an American Junior Bowling Congress patch, and medal for posting a 238 game and 538 series in league competition during the weekend at Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl.

She is a member of the Rolling Dolls League for girls aged 15-21.

It was the fourth such award Miss Damron has received during her nine years as a bowler. She was cited three times while a member of a Hickam Air Force Base league in Hawaii.

The Junior Bowling Congress presents awards to bowlers in four age groups who surpass pre-set scores.

The age groups are: bantams, age 8 and under, junior bantams, 9-11, juniors, ages 12-14, and seniors, 15-21.

WOMEN COUGARS WIN

In their first scrimmage of the basketball season, the women cagers of SIUE humiliated the Maryville College Brewers 61-21 in Edwardsville Tuesday night.

The women Cougars will host Lewis and Clark at 7:15 p.m. Friday in the Edwardsville High girls' gym.

Ice hockey team in action Friday

The Granite City Bruins will attempt to break a two-way deadlock for first place in the Madison-St. Clair Counties Junior Ice Hockey League standings with a win over Collinsville at 10:30 p.m. tomorrow on the Wilson Park ice.

Granite City and O'Fallon have 3-1 records.

O'Fallon takes on Wood River in a 10 p.m. contest Saturday, followed by Alton and Metro playing at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Alton and Wood River have 2-1 records, Metro is 1-3 and Collinsville 0-4.

Player-coach Gary Mainer said seven different players have combined for the Bruins' 20 goals in four games. Granite City's defense, led by Goalkeeper Frank Prusha, has allowed only six goals.

Providing goals thus far are Ken Sabal and John Kreckovich five each, Rich Foy four, Mainer and Dan Fecite two each, and Paul Solberger and Doug Purkey, one each.

Prusha has been action in three games and has allowed opposing teams to score five times. Backup Goalie Tom Manogian has substituted for Prusha once, allowing one goal. Mainer notes that Fecite is playing his first season with Granite City, the defending league champion. Solberger thus far is the only defensive player to score a goal.

Booster meeting

A monthly meeting of the GCHS South Booster Club will be held Monday, Dec. 13, at 7 p.m. in the school's cafeteria, with a guest speaker planned.

The public is being invited to attend.

Coolidge matmen still undefeated

Coolidge Junior High School's wrestling Braves remain undefeated in 13 straight dual meets after defeating the Chiefs 84-6 Tuesday afternoon at Prather.

Coach Larry Carl's matmen lost their first meet of the 1975-76 season and have not been defeated since.

Coolidge won 12 of 13 bouts at Prather, including a record-setting win by Chuck Will (170 pounds) with a pin in 12 seconds. The previous mark was 18 seconds set by Tim Killian against Prather during the 1967-68 season.

Chief Dan Perkins (135) pinned his foe.

Coolidge victors were Chris Cottrill (75) 1-21, Pat Theis (82) a 1-43 decision, Greg Garland (90) 5-43, Brian Corey (98) 4-2, Mike Niebur (106) 1-29, Mark Smith (112) 3-25, Craig Ely (119) 6-4, Randy Miller (126) 1-12, Kevin Knowland (144) 14-1, Mike Mattheis (153) 3-19, and heavyweight Tim Wyrsetek 1-27.

Area on brink of boom era—engineer

The Quad-City area could enter a prosperous new era with extensive industrial-commercial-residential construction, if a pending sanitary sewer program is carried out, Edward L. Juneau, vice-president of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab engineering firm, said Tuesday.

Addressing Granite City Rotarians at their weekly luncheon, the engineer said timing is becoming crucial due to court-related delays of the sewer project in the Nemo-Chouteau township area.

All but two opponents of the sewer financing method have withdrawn, he said. The area to be served by sewers is likely to grow from a $3 million to $75 million assessment base and the total.

Prospective 1977-78 officer candidates were announced and plans were made for Tree of Lights "bell ringing" and for expansion of "crime blocker" participation.

Mayor to meet EDA officials

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Attorney Lance Schuler are to leave tonight for Washington where they will confer Friday with representatives of the Economic Development Agency concerning a city request for a $1.6 million grant with which to build a new municipal building and jail.

Schuler said he and Callis also plan to confer tomorrow with Cong. Melvin Price (D-2nd District) before meeting with EDA officials.

The grant for the proposed new city building is sought under the Public Works Act approved two months ago.

Schuler said it is his understanding that all grants are to be determined by EDA not later than Dec. 24.

Carl Thomas dies at 65

Carl Thomas, 65, of 2059 Cleveland Blvd., died at 10:35 p.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, apparently of pneumonia.

He was released from the hospital during the weekend for treatment of a stab wound to the left side of the chest, and was readmitted Wednesday morning because of his illness.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Genevieve Greenman of Granite City.

Mayor's ball Sunday

Plenty of tickets remain for the Granite City Mayor's Christmas Ball which will be held Sunday at the Madison County Firemen's Hall at 610 Collinsville Road, Mrs. Bernadine Hagnauer, chairman of the ball, announced this

Christmas luncheon of Ladies Coterie

The annual Christmas luncheon meeting of the Ladies Coterie was held at Central Christian Church, and featured an afternoon of musical selections performed by members and guests.

Luncheon was served to 34 by the ladies of the host church with Mrs. Hugh Foster giving the invocation.

Mrs. Alfred Pape introduced those presenting the program beginning with Mrs. Isabell Schmidt who presided at the piano and played "You Are My Melody" by Dudley Ryder followed by a clarinet solo by Mrs. Terry Waffler who played "Sonata for the Clarinet." Mrs. Frank Mercer sang, "Silver Bells," "Christmas Song," and "Nuttin' for Christmas." Mrs. George Filcoff played a violin solo entitled "Adoration" by Felix Borowski and "Meditation" from the opera Thais by Jules Massenet.

After the program Santa Claus made a visit to the festive party and presented gifts to all who attended.

Club president, Mrs. Floyd Henley closed the event with a Christmas prayer.

great big Granite City Christmas party, and numerous surprises have been arranged.

She said the $10 per person will cover only the expenses of the ball and no profit is expected. Casper Nighohossian, chairman of the Granite City Bicentennial Commission, noted the event is the finale of the Bicentennial observances in the Quad-Cities.

He urged those planning to attend to purchase their tickets as soon as possible to aid in making necessary arrangements, even though tickets also will be available at the door.

The firemen's hall will be decorated in a Christmas theme and special plans have been made to break the large hall up into special Christmas parties in various areas, Mrs. Hagnauer explained.

The event will begin with a social period from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. with music by Ralph Winn, "Mr. Music."

Special hors d'oeuvres will be provided by Charlie's Restaurant.

Dancing will follow from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of the Joey James Orchestra.

Dress for the ball is optional. Tickets may be purchased in advance from Mrs. Hagnauer at the Granite City Township supervisor's office, from City Clerk Robert W. Stevens in the city hall, or from Fire Chief Don Parente in the main fire station.

Consolidate dental school

Consolidation of 17 departments in the SIUE School of Dental Medicine into seven new departments was approved Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, meeting in Chicago.

The proposal had been authorized by the SIUE Board of Trustees in June, subject to IBHE approval.

Chairman Robert G. Biesel of the Committee on Courts and Justice, in a letter to the seven Supreme Court justices, asked

Judge nominating commissions urged

As new justices of the Supreme Court of Illinois took office this week, a statewide citizens' committee called on the court to establish non-partisan nominating commissions for appointments by the Supreme Court to the judicial vacancies which occur between general elections.

Chairman Robert G. Biesel of the Committee on Courts and Justice, in a letter to the seven Supreme Court justices, asked them to adopt rules drafted by the Illinois State Bar Association and approved by that association's Assembly. Under the proposed rules, the Illinois Supreme Court's appointments to vacancies would be made in a manner which has become known nationally as the nonpartisan merit selection plan, except that it would utilize the Supreme Court as the final appointer instead of the governor because the 1970 Constitution mandates this for vacancies. Biesel said, "Since 1940, thirty of the 52 states, commonwealths and districts of the United States have recognized the need for nonpartisan nominating commissions and have introduced such reforms. Our neighboring states of Indiana, Iowa, and Missouri have introduced nonpartisan commissions for judicial offices. The American Bar Association and the American Judicial Society advocate for state courts the appointment of candidates submitted by such commissions."

Hairdressers install officers

Council bill expands scope of use permit

An ordinance allowing attorney Leon Scroggins to place an insurance agency and an office for State Rep. Jim McPike in his office building at 2632 Madison Ave., was passed by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

The property was granted a special use permit for Scroggins' office only at the council's previous meeting on the recommendation of the Plan Commission. The Plan Commission rejected a request for C-1 commercial zoning, recommending the special use permit instead.

Scroggins then told the council of his plans to have McPike and an insurance agent put offices in the building and requested an ordinance to allow him to do so.

The ordinance was unanimously passed without discussion.

State curfew law is upheld

A decision by the Illinois Supreme Court upholds the constitutionality of the Illinois curfew law (paragraph 2771 of Chapter 23 of the Illinois Revised Statutes), state police are pointing out.

It is unlawful for a person less than 17 years of age to be present at any public assembly, building, place, street or highway between 12:01 a.m. and 6 a.m. Saturday or Sunday, and between 11 p.m. on Sunday and Thursday and 6 a.m. on the following day—unless accompanied and supervised by a parent, legal guardian or other responsible companion at least 18 years of age approved by a parent or legal guardian—or unless engaged in a business occupation which Illinois laws authorize a person less than 17 to perform.

It is against the law for a parent, legal guardian or other person to knowingly permit a person in his custody or control to violate the statute.

A person convicted of a violation of any provision of this law can be fined $10 to $100.

If a violation of the curfew statute involves a licensed driver under the age of 17, the license can be invalidated.

Ill. Power promotes 3

Larry D. Haab, Leonard J. Koch and William E. Warren on Wednesday were elected vice presidents of Illinois Power Company by the board of directors. All are members of the company's headquarters staff in Decatur.

Haab's new responsibilities include rates, regulatory matters, economic analysis and financial analysis; Koch's are power production and nuclear projects; and Warren's are electric and gas operations carried out through the company's 12 service areas.

Illinois Power provides natural gas and electricity in a 15,000-square-mile area of Illinois.

Illinois Power yesterday announced the 119th consecutive quarterly dividend on its common stock. The action was taken by the firm's directors, who declared a dividend of 56 cents per share on the common stock of the company.

The Board also declared regular quarterly dividends of 51 cents per share on the 4.08 per cent cumulative preferred stock, ranging upward to $1.11, per share on a 6.94 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

The dividends are all payable Feb. 1 to stockholders of record on Jan. 10.

THEFT ON CLEVELAND

Eileen Wallace, 2455 Cleveland Blvd., reported at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday that items valued at about $235 were stolen from her porch and garage Monday. Three large throw rugs were taken from the front porch railing and taken from the garage were an antique school desk and two bicycles.

FIGHTING $8,000 FIRE at 2420 Adams St., Tuesday morning, firemen directed water from hoses on the roof and on the neighboring house's roof (at left) for one hour and 40 minutes before stopping the blaze. Damage was estimated at $4,500 to the building and $3,500 to its contents. Three pumps from the Granite City Fire Department fought the fire. (Press-Record Photo)

Murder is charged in stabbing

Eugene Loveless, 42, of 414 Kathryn St., East St. Louis, has been charged with murder in the fatal stabbing last Friday of Eddie Ingram, 29, of 1645 Second St., Madison.

The incident occurred in front of the Chat and Chew, 427 Weaver St., Venice, where police alleged finding Loveless standing beside his car with a knife in his hand.

Mr. Ingram was found nearby suffering cuts. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Police were told Mr. Ingram approached Loveless while Loveless was unlocking his car door and Mr. Ingram attempted to take a bottle of liquor from him, and then started to assault Loveless.

Loveless told police he used a knife to try to defend himself against the assault and did not know he had stabbed Mr. Ingram until the victim "got away and fell to the sidewalk," according to officers.

Loveless is being held without bail at the Madison County jail in Edwardsville.

FIREMEN ON ROOF direct water into an upstairs bedroom at the home of John Rost, 2420 Adams St., at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday. The fire was believed to have started in this bedroom, either in the bed or in a stuffed chair. (Press-Record Photo)

Educators honor Mrs. Elmore and Miss Kerch

Mrs. Barbara Elmore, Granite City, was honored as an outstanding parent and Miss Barbara Louise Kerch, a Granite City school district administrator, was accorded honorable mention as an administrator in ceremonies during the weekend at Springfield.

Miss Kerch directs elementary physical education and girls' high school and junior high physical education in School District Nine.

They and 23 other persons were honored for "outstanding contributions to education in Illinois." Plaques were presented to teachers, school board members, parents and students at the third annual "Those who excel" awards program sponsored by the Illinois Office of Education.

In addition, Emel Hamberlin, biology and horticulture teacher at Chicago's DuSable High School, was named 1977 Illinois Teacher of the Year at banquet ceremonies at the Holiday Inn East, Springfield.

More than 150 persons representing all areas of the state were nominated for the annual awards.

The 25 awarded plaques were chosen on the basis of leadership, ability to achieve constructive change, ability to motivate or inspire others, and the impact of their contributions on education.

Winners were chosen by a selection committee consisting of persons representing organizations of students, teachers, parents, school administrators and school board members.

State School Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin expressed appreciation to the persons nominated and chosen for the awards. He said, "Your contributions have already been recognized by your own communities and now deserve recognition statewide."

"It is through efforts such as yours—whether in big cities or rural communities—that education in Illinois can look ahead to a bright future."

Your concern, your willingness to participate and to give above and beyond what might be expected of you has been an invaluable asset to education in the state and nation."

Awards were presented in five categories: outstanding teacher, outstanding school administrator, outstanding school board member, outstanding student and outstanding parent.

Republicans need theme of 'we care about people' —Thompson

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Gov.-elect James R. Thompson of Illinois appealed to the Republican Party last week to open ranks to all voters and jettison the deadweight of its "ideological baggage."

Thompson, 40, a rising GOP star in his own right, told the Republican Governors Association a new political era of the governors is emerging and they should have "more influence" on the Republican National Committee and the power structure.

He suggested that the route to the White House is now via the Statehouse, and not necessarily through the Senate.

It is no longer necessary to serve a "long apprenticeship" in a legislative body, he said; "I didn't."

As further evidence of the "era of the governors," Thompson cited the "Carter phenomenon" that catapulted the relatively obscure former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia into the Presidency in 18 months.

Thompson said that if Republican challengers are to win elective office, the party must reach out to all voters. That, he said, was how President Ford won Illinois.

"We did it by not shutting anyone out."

Thompson said the Republican Party must be big enough to accommodate a range of "philosophies" and not be narrowly based on a single "ideology."

Discussing the chief topic of the GOP governor's conference — the forthcoming selection of a new chairman of the Republican National Committee — Thompson said: "We need someone as chairman of this party who can put us back together."

"We need a technician, not a spokesman for awhile. Our new chairman can't be an ideologue."

It matters little to him, Thompson said, whether the chairman comes from the camp of John Connally, Charles Percy or Ronald Reagan "just as long as they leave their ideological baggage behind."

Thompson said, however, that the new chairman should not be a candidate or potential candidate for elective office.

He said a candidate would spend more time on his own campaign than on party affairs. The goal of the broadly-based party should be "that most of the time most of the people find most Republican candidates acceptable."

He suggested that this can be done by clearly demonstrating that "we care about people."

The party should start now developing challengers for the 1978 and 1980 elections, Thompson said, adding that "it is not too early" to bank campaign money for them.

Games were played and those winning prizes were Edith Young, Della Hagen, Avis Moore and the hostess, Emma Gobel also attended. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Moore on Jan. 7.

He said voters "regularly send us messages."

"They don't want to be excluded any more."

Lawrence Haug dies here

Lawrence J. Haug, 75, formerly of 21 Shirlwin Drive, died at 1:15 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been a patient six weeks.

Mr. Haug had been ill for seven years and was a resident of Colonial Nursing Home, Maryville, prior to entering the local hospital.

Born in Brussels, Ill., he resided in Granite City 41 years.

Charles Seka dies at 52

Charles A. "Carl" Seka, 52, of 602 N. Combs St., Collinsville, formerly of Granite City, died at 9:45 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Belleville.

He was born in Granite City and graduated from Granite City High School. He served with the U.S. Army during World War II.

Mr. Seka was employed as a custodian for the Collinsville School District 16.

A member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, he also belonged to VFW Post 5691, American Legion Post 365, both of Collinsville, and the Collinsville Democratic Club. Mr. Seka also was chairman of the Collinsville Township precinct committee, an auditor of the Township Board and was current president of Carliodians Local 316 of the school district.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Josephine (Certo) Seka; a son, James Charles Seka, and daughter, Mrs. John (Carol Jean) Rekowak, both of Collinsville; two brothers, Stephen and William Seka, both of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Pete (Anne) Bruno of Belleville, and Mrs. Charles (Catherine) Seka of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

2104 Cottage Ave., Granite City, who will sing Luretta on Saturday, have received first and second place in regional opera auditions for four different opera companies, competing with voice students from four Midwest states.

Rights to credit

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
Director
U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs
If you've ever had trouble obtaining credit because you are recently separated or divorced—or because of your age, race—or because your income is derived from some type of public assistance program, here's good news.
Under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act of 1974 and recent amendments to that law, you have important rights.
Specifically, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act says that a creditor (whether a person, a credit union, bank or other institution that extends, renews or continues credit) cannot:

Refuse to grant a separate account to a creditworthy applicant on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin,
sex, marital status or age, (provided the applicant is of the legal age to enter into a contract).
Refuse to grant credit
because all or part of an ap-plicant's income is derived from any public assistance program.
Ask the marital status of the applicant if the applicant applies for an unsecured separate account unless: (1) it is community property, (2) secured credit is requested, or (3) the account requested is one that a spouse will be permitted to use or will be contractually liable for.

Ask an applicant whether he or she is divorced.
Require an applicant to designate a title, for example,
Mr., Mrs., Miss or Ms.
Require an applicant to report income derived from alimony, child support or maintenance payments. (A creditor may, however, ask and consider such income in determining the creditworthiness of an applicant.)
Require an applicant to use a spouse's first or last name.
Refuse to consider the income of the applicant or spouse on the basis of sex or marital status.
Request any information concerning the spouse or former spouse unless the spouse will be permitted to use the account or signs the note, therefore becoming contractually liable.

Ask information about birth control practices or childbearing intentions or capability.
Require resuspension for an existing account, terminate an existing account or change the terms of an existing account solely on the basis of a change in name or marital status in the absence of evidence of inability to repay.
Require the signature of a spouse or other person on a credit contract unless that requirement is imposed on all similarly qualified applicants for that type of credit without regard to sex or marital status.
Other provisions of the law cover furnishing of credit information and preservation of records.
Enforcement of this law rests with nine different agencies.
For problems with national banks, write to the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington,

LARGEST SEWER REPLACEMENT in the city's history employs this heavy equipment Friday along the Nameoki Drainage ditch at Johnson Road. Inspecting the work at left are Street Superintendent Lionel Portell and Tom Bryarty, a street department worker. The city is replacing nearly one-half mile of 15-inch sewer line that has been broken in several spots, causing discharge of raw sewage into the Nameoki ditch. The work is expected to take three months to complete.

Walgreen earnings increase

A 50.1 per cent improvement in LIFO-adjusted earnings (last in, first out) and a sales increase of 8.4 per cent highlight Walgreen Co. results for fiscal 1976, according to the company's annual report.

In a letter to shareholders, C. R. Walgreen III, chairman and chief executive officer, and R. L. Schmitt, president and chief operating officer, reported that 1976 is the first year in which LIFO-adjusted earnings surpassed the Walgreen Co.'s 1975 pre-LIFO record.

Earnings for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1976, rose to $14,784,657 compared to $9,848,507 in fiscal 1975. Earnings per share were $2.23 versus $1.49 last year.

The company noted that earnings prior to the LIFO effect registered a much lesser increase, as LIFO earnings were substantially benefited by the sharply reduced rate of inflation.

Sales for the fiscal year rose 8.4 per cent to a record-breaking $1,169,779,733 compared to $1,079,143,636 in 1975. The board of directors voted to increase the dividend to 27 1/2 cents from the previous 25 cents per quarter, payable Dec. 11 to the more than 19,000 shareholders of record on Nov. 15.

Walgreen Co., whose 29,000 employees are celebrating the company's 75th anniversary, is known primarily for its 632 drug stores. However, the company also operates a chain of 28 Globe Department Stores in the southwest; a food service division of 333 restaurants; a manufacturing plant which produces over 500 health, beauty, and household products; a travel agency acquired in 1971; and three photo processing studios. And nearly 1,800 privately-owned, company-associated drug stores are authorized to use the Walgreen name and sell Walgreen products.

Walgreen Co. also has a substantial interest in Sanborns of Mexico, a popular Mexican retailer-restaurateur-manu-

State public aid cuts error rates

The Illinois Department of Public Aid has drastically cut ineligibility, overpayment, and underpayment errors over the past two-year period.

James L. Trainor, public aid director, said Thursday that many elements combined to effect the decrease in the department's error rates.

GC report on help for low-income pupils

The Illinois Office of Education has asked 23 school districts, including Granite City, to submit plans by Dec. 20 explaining how they use state funds allocated to help students from low-income families.

Affected are school districts with weighted (adjusted) average daily attendance totals of 10,000 or more. They were notified of the plan requirement and deadline in letters from State School Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin.

Supt. Cronin commented, "This action by the Board of Education and State Office of Education is not intended to imply improperly by any school districts in the use of Title I funds."

"It's simply a matter of complying with existing state law. By so doing, we will be making sure that Title I money is being used for the direct benefit of children who need the assistance."

The plans are required under terms of rules and regulations filed recently with the Office of Secretary of State.

Based on a statutory provision in effect since 1972, the rules were prepared at the direction of the State Board of Education to assure that money granted to the districts is spent for the purposes intended.

The funds are those which school districts receive from the state in addition to their normal state aid entitlements, based on the number of pupils listed as eligible under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. They also qualify for federal Title I assistance.

Dr. Cronin said the rules and regulations now in force provide only an interim system for accounting for Title I aid.

A completed system will be prepared for the 1977-78 school year, along with the revision of the state's school evaluation standards, according to the state school chief.

New evaluation standards, he added, will require an annual deadline of Aug. 15 for plans dealing with the improvement of instruction of Title I students.

Plans prepared for the current school year will be submitted to the appropriate education service region superintendent. The regional superintendent will have until Jan. 3, 1977, to report an evaluation of the plan to the state education agency.

This year in Illinois there are 381,000 Title I-eligible pupils, about 15,000 less than a year ago.

Among the elements affecting lower ineligibility rates were the reorganization of the Cook County Department of Public Aid, revised categorical assistance manuals, the department's new client information system, detailed policy statements explaining the establishment of the presence or absence of the parent of a dependent child, and home visits at redeterminations.

The number of recipients failing to register in the Work Incentive (WIN) program contributes to overpayment errors. To counteract these errors the department's Bureau of Social Services in June 1975 registered approximately 10,000 people statewide in the WIN program.

Presently the department, in conjunction with the Illinois Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security, is conducting a special call-in program to register recipients for WIN.

Reassigning department staff has also helped reduce errors. Trainor said, "By placing the more experienced staff in intake, we have managed to keep ineligibles from getting on the rolls."

During the first sample period after Trainor became director the case error rates were: ineligibility, 15.1 per cent; overpayments, 28.1 per cent; and underpayments, 5.3 per cent.

The department's payment error rates were: ineligibility, 12.9 per cent; overpayments, 10.9 per cent; and underpayments, 1.2 per cent.

"During the 18 months of his administration the department has managed to lower all error rates. According to Illinois Department of Public Aid projections based on information available on Nov. 24, case error rates are: ineligibility, 5.0 per cent; overpayments, 12.6 per cent; and underpayments, 1.8 per cent."

Payment error rates are: ineligibility, 4.0 per cent; overpayments, 5.38 per cent; and underpayments, 0.5 per cent.

"We take pride in the results of our efforts to correct error rates and we are confident that continued diligence will maintain this downward trend," Trainor concluded.

Battery alleged

Robert L. Porter, 19, of 1521 Fourth St., Madison, has been charged by Madison police with two counts of battery.

A man allegedly broke the glass from the kitchen door to enter the home of Charles and Nelda Reed, 1521 Fourth St., Madison, Nov. 27 and struck Mrs. Reed, knocking her to the floor where she then was kicked, she told officers.

The youth also allegedly entered the bedroom of the house where Mr. Reed was sleeping and struck him on the mouth.

Mrs. Reed suffered swelling and discoloration to her face and forehead and blood around her mouth. Mr. Reed suffered a cut lip.

Folklore linked to Christmas customs

If a young woman puts rosemary (a spice) in her shoe the very last thing before she goes to sleep on Christmas Eve, she may dream about her future sweetheart, according to John Oldani.

The associate professor of American studies and folklore at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville says, "As an added extra, on the Christmas morning following, the young woman could walk around a pear tree backwards and look up to see the vision of her loved one in the tree."

"Also, if she were to dream of the young man for three consecutive nights, chances are he might be her future husband."

When one stops to think about the subject, the celebration of Christmas is an old tradition and folklore. We need something like the Spirit of Christmas and something folkloristic in order to cheer each other up at this time of the year."

A celebration like that of Christmas started long before Christ was born, according to the folklorist. Pagans celebrated the birthday of the "Unconquerable Sun," which takes place in December around the time of the winter solstice, when the sun is at its greatest distance from the equator and there is a change of seasons.

"This was a sort of rebirth for them. This also is true for the spring equinox, when the earth crosses the plane of the earth's equator and the number of hours of night is equal to that of day, or the time at which a Christian celebrates Easter," the professor added.

The mistletoe, ivy and trees of Christmas today were all symbolic when the pagans celebrated the birthday of the "Unconquerable Sun," Oldani explained.

"When the church came along, they sort of merged the two celebrations—the birth of Christ and the Unconquerable—and therefore it was easier to convert the pagans to Christianity," he said.

The tradition of having a Christmas tree came from the Druids, a religious sect that worshipped nature in the days of Caesar, and possibly the Germans.

"In later centuries, St. Boniface had a Christmas tree, and Martin Luther put candles on his tree. That is where the idea for Christmas tree lights originated," he added.

"When Washington crossed the Delaware River at Christmas time, he conquered the Hessian soldiers because they were celebrating Christmas and were gathered around a tree."

Franklin Pierce, the fourteenth U.S. President, was the first American leader to have a Christmas tree at the White House.

The vision of Santa Claus, which has dazzled children for many generations, has been imagined many different ways in countries throughout the world, Oldani said.

"St. Nicholas, a church saint in both the Catholic and Eastern Orthodox faiths, gave trinkets to children on Dec. 6. This still holds true today."

"We associate him with the three gold balls on pawnshop signs," the professor explained.

"There is a story of three girls and their widower father. They had no money for Christmas, so the father—such as he hated to do so—told each of the girls to go and seek money on the street. Before this took place, St. Nicholas threw three bags of gold in the window, and this saved them the money they needed."

"St. Nicholas also had a helper known as the Black Prince, who gave nice things to good little children, and coal to bad little children."

"This is where the tradition of putting coal in certain children's Christmas stockings came from."

The Italian version of Santa Claus is a woman, known as Barakka. She, too, gave gifts to good children and rocks or coal to naughty children, according to legend.

The German "Santa Claus" or Kris Kringle, and later Kris Kringle, comes closest to the American version of Santa Claus, the professor said.

"He supposedly was an elf in red who dropped great packages and gifts to children on Christmas Eve."

"The American Santa Claus, along with that of Kris Kringle, was created, it is thought, by Thomas Nast, a cartoonist around the turn of the century."

"He first showed Santa as being rotund, with a white beard and moustache and a big bag of gifts."

"The giving of gifts at Christmas time also has a great deal of folklore attached to it."

"Not only did Santa give gifts, but the three wise men gave gifts to the Christ child, symbolic of the Christ child as a gift to humanity."

"The whole Spirit of Christmas is focused on that idea of giving."

Just about every Western European country has lent the Americans some tradition of Christmas. Most of what we follow today has been given to us by the Dutch and the Germans.

Today, as well as in some of the decades of America, our traditions have come to us not only from those two, but also from the English, Irish and Mexicans.

"The English introduced the traditions of Christmas caroling, sending cards and searching for the yule log," the folklorist said.

"The Irish gave us the tradition of putting a candle in our windows at Christmas. This is for Mary, so that she may follow it in order to find her way through the night, as long ago when she gave birth to Jesus."

"Even today, there are many groups that still believe folk tales."

"Some people in the Ozarks still sleep with their animals on Christmas Eve, because it is believed that the animals will talk at midnight."

Book returns

In making their list of what has to be done before Christmas, students at SIUE are being reminded to add another item. It is time to return their books to textbook rental, according to James Oglesby, supervisor.

The extended hour schedule for book returns will be: Dec. 13, 14, 15 and 16 from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Dec. 17 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and Dec. 18 from 8 a.m. until noon.

The deadline for returning books used during the fall quarter is Monday, Dec. 20, Oglesby said. Students returning books late will be charged a penalty fee.

Students are being urged to make sure they obtain a receipt for every book they return. Textbook Services is located in the basement of Lovejoy Library.

Dates for winter quarter issues will be announced later. Winter quarter classes will begin Jan. 4 at 7:30 a.m.

YULE TOYS OF LONG AGO. John Oldani, associate professor of American studies and folklore, holds Christmas toys of yesteryear. Gift giving is one of the oldest holiday traditions, according to Oldani, dating back to the Biblical time when three wise men gave gifts to the Christ child, symbolic of God's gift to the world.

There will be congregational singing. The public is invited. This event will be preceded by a church-wide Christmas dinner of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings for the members of the congregation only. Christmas Sunday, Dec. 19, will feature the choir singing the cantata, "The Night the Angels Sang." Pastor Edward Weston will deliver a monologue entitled, "Balthasar the King." There also will be a children's birthday party for Jesus during this 10:45 a.m. service. Sunday evening at 6 p.m. on Dec. 19 the church will meet to go caroling. They will sing at shut-ins homes and then return to the church for an informal fellowship time. The youth group will provide refreshments. A special candlelight Holy Communion Service will be held Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 11 p.m. The sanctuary will be open at 10:45 p.m. for silent meditation. The church organist, Mrs. Dorothy Lionberger will play special Christmas music. Pastor Weston will deliver the sermon, "Nathan the Shepherd," another dramatic monologue.

Baskin-Robbins birthday offer

The local Baskin-Robbins 31 Ice Cream store in American Village Shopping Center is celebrating the firm's 31st birthday year by presenting to customers this week only, copies of their theme poster, showing other posters used over the past three decades.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, owners of the local franchise, said the poster is in full color on quality paper and suitable for framing.

Miniature inserts of posters and themes used each year are included in the 1976 version and range from Baskin-Robbins first store in 1946 at Glendale, Calif., to theatre goers watching 3 dimensional movies in 1954, the hula hoop craze of 1959, mod hair and the Beatles in 1964, the moon walk in 1969 and the American-Soviet space team-up in 1975.

"Thank You America for 31st Year!" is the 1976 birthday theme, Jones said. The company now has 1,700 stores in the United States, Japan, Belgium and England.

Free balloons and book covers will be given children this week at the store and adults may register for cake and ice cream cakes, Mr. and Mrs. Jones said.

Fair Oaks Club attend party

Fair Oaks Junior Garden Club members attended a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Carol Ann Davis and her daughter, Megan, 3238 Colgate Place, during the weekend. Festive decorations were carried out throughout the house and the table appointments. Each one present participated in a gift exchange and yuletide games. Prizes were won by Mary Beth Cavins and Debbie Hendon. The hostess presented each of the guests with a sprig of holly tied with a red ribbon and served refreshments to those named and to Mary Lou Metcalf, Nancy Cavar, Jennifer Herman, Nancy Griffith, Craig Cavins, Bradley Busch, Joel and Jill Donley, Wade Ashley and the club advisor Mrs. Judy Donley. Tracy Ashby, 2013 Richmond Ave., will host the next meeting.

Covenant Players to perform Sunday

The Covenant Players, an international repertory drama group have appeared in 5,000 churches around the world, as well as at community service clubs. The group utilizes the dramatic in unique and creative ways. A variety of effective themes are used to challenge and stimulate Christian thinking. This group will be appearing Sunday evening, Dec. 12, at 7 in the Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road. The admission is $1 per adult with children under 16 admitted free, according to the Rev. Don Pierson, pastor. The wide spectrum of repertoire plays will appeal to all ages. A particular emphasis will be on the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Stutch is circle hostess

Truth Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met last week at the home of Mrs. Edna Stutch. The meditation for the evening, "Making The Most of Our Opportunities" was presented by Mrs. Wanda Groothuis. Mrs. Betty Williams, circle leader, thanked those present for their part in making the circle a success in the past two years, and for their cooperation and untiring efforts in the success of the recent bazaar held at the church. Plans were made for the December general meeting of United Methodist Women which will be a combined installation of officers and pledge service for the new year. Mrs. Stutch served refreshments to the following, after which the group enjoyed a cookie exchange: Mesdames Maxine Hacke, Elizabeth Briggs, Geneva Miller, Edna Dix, Sandy Wallace, Dolores Allen, Shirley Loy, Wanda Groothuis, Kathryn Richardson, Fern Hahn, Betty Mathias, Betty Williams, Edna Davis and Mable Gertsch.

BIRTHDAY CAKE. A highlight of the St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ 75th anniversary party Sunday was the cutting of the cake. The first piece of cake was served to Mrs. Elizabeth Weinlein, 99, the oldest living member of the church, and the second piece was served to Rev. H. H. Wintermeyer, pastor emeritus. At left is the Rev. Robert Kettelhut, church pastor, with Calvin Bartels, president of the congregation.

Business Women seek 'Young Career Women'

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club is seeking a Young Careerist candidate to represent the local club at district, state and national levels of competition. Mrs. Carolyn Koester, Young Careerist chairman, said the Young Career Woman Program is part of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's objectives to promote career education and career awareness. "Our local BPW club is very interested in the young people of this community and want to afford them all opportunities offered by the Young Careerist program and similar projects," Mrs. Koester said.

Programs set at Gospel Mission

The Rev. Ralph Limberg of Maryville (Ill.) Baptist Church will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. services today at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St. The public is invited to attend all services at the non-denominational church. Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, mission superintendent, said, "Ample parking space is available at the rear of the building. At Sunday evening's service, Carroll Thomas of Sauget, Ill., and evangelistic speaker, will address members and friends at 7 o'clock. Church school classes will take place at 9 a.m. Sunday. Mrs. Davis said a special Christmas program is being arranged for Thursday, Dec. 23, when Yuletide treats will be distributed to Sunday school members. Every class is invited to participate, she said. Gospel Mission members will be in charge of worship service Dec. 22 at the Sunshine Mission in St. Louis. Local residents wishing to attend are being asked to be at the Gospel Mission at 6:15 p.m.

Tri-City Park Tabernacle plans dinner and bazaar

A ham and bean dinner will be served from 12 noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, Clark and Buenger Blvd., by the members of the Women's Ministries of the church, and is open to the public. Mrs. Sue Chilton, chairman of the event, announced the menu will include cornbread, salad, beverages and a variety of desserts. Tickets costing $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 may be purchased at the door. The fund raising project will also feature many hand made articles to be offered for sale and prizes will be awarded during the afternoon. All proceeds will be used for the church missions, Mrs. Chilton added.

The Rev. J. Albert Calaway invites area residents to attend worship services Sunday morning at 9:45 and 10:45.

Navy Mothers donate $375

The Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850 finalized plans to send $375 donations to various veteran hospitals and military installations at a meeting conducted last week. Members gathered at the VFW Hall with Commander Edna Miller in charge of the session. A $200 contribution was sent to the national headquarters for registration to be returned to this area for charitable projects and $25 each was sent to the Galilee Naval Chapel, Camp Pendleton Naval Hospital, Memphis Naval Hospital, Fort Meade Hospital, S.D., Philadelphia Men's Service Center, Camp Lejeune, S.C. and John Cochran Hospital, St. Louis. The mystery package was sent by Mrs. Edna Miller and the special prize went to Betty Sellar. Mrs. Miller announced the Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 15 at Charlie's Restaurant and the next business meeting will be on Jan. 6.

Christmas party of Mothers Club

During the annual Christmas party of the Lincoln Place Mothers Club, held last week, at the Lincoln Place Recreation Center, plans were made to send donations to the Salvation Army and to Parents of Special Education. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Mary St. Ivany and Mrs. Ann Volf, in honor of their birthdays. A pot luck dinner was served, from tables decorated with small Christmas trees followed by the presentation of gifts to children from one year through 12. Games were played and prizes won by Del Deloney, Helen Simpson, Dorothy Petrillo, Virginia Kittle, Ann Kuruz and Josephine Vangel. Others present were Mary Andria, Carmen Breckner, Linda Garcia, Rose Grim, Nancy Groff, Irene Kuzma, Tillie Martinez, Virginia Sever and Minnie Wheatley.

Past Regents of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 247, were accorded special honors and presented with a gift and roses during a dinner meeting held at the Moose Lodge last week. Honorees included Nancy Hamilton, Ruth Stover, Marian Lipscomb, Edna Miller, Gladys Markovich, Millie Votoupal, Helen Oberlin, Dorothy Coy, Margaret Houseman, Iris Chastain, Margaret Fromberger, Alice Rothenstiel, Marie Hampton and Edith Rogers. Entertainment was a skit performed by Patricia Lipscomb and Verne Von Nida. The tables and hall was decorated in a Thanksgiving motif.

Mrs. Von Nida, senior regent, conducted a business session after the dinner and welcomed 55 members. One application for membership was accepted and the candidate will be enrolled at the next meeting, it was noted. A Christmas party to include a gift exchange will be featured at the next meeting, Mrs. Von Nida added.

Mrs. Mary Parker, library chairman, gave her committee report and a review of the chapter activities during the year was submitted by the presiding officer. An adult Christmas party is set for Saturday, Dec. 18, and plans will be completed for a children's holiday party the following day.

Mrs. Von Nida reported a basket of groceries will be delivered to a needy family in time for Christmas. Prizes were won by Ruth Stover, Winnie Morris and Gladys Markovich.

Tricentennial time capsule

Gov. Daniel Walker and his wife, Roberta, have sealed a collection of papers and objects gathered during the 1976 Bicentennial year into a time capsule to be opened in 2076.

During ceremonies on Illinois Statehood Day, Walker dedicated the time capsule. "I am confident that the values and traditions that have carried forth these 200 years will see our nation through its third century," he said.

Over 600,000 doses of swine flu vaccine have been administered in Illinois. Phase I of the immunization program, for persons 60 years of age or older and the chronically ill, has been completed in 50 Illinois counties and is being implemented in the remaining 52 counties. Phase II of the immunization program, for the general public, has been completed in nine counties and is under way in 16 additional counties.

Unemployment in Illinois has remained relatively stable, declining from 7.4 per cent in October to 7.3 per cent in November. The November 1976 unemployment count also is lower than that of November 1975. Unemployment a year ago was reported at 7.8 per cent.

Illinois drivers who remove their 1976 license plates and replace them with 1977 plates are being advised to take care of the old plates. These should be destroyed or kept in a safe place, so that they are not used illegally by another driver. The 1977 license plates are now on sale at the four Granite City-Madison banks.

Fourteen Department of Conservation properties will be open to cross-country skiers this winter and nine sites will provide trails for snowmobiling. Conservation Director John McGuire has announced. Information on them is available from the Department of Conservation, Public Information Division, 606 State Office Building, Springfield 62706.

The sixth annual Christmas caroling program at the Vandalia Statehouse Historic Site was held Dec. 4-6. It served the dual role of marking the start of the Christmas holiday season and the reopening of Illinois' former Capitol Building. The observance, co-sponsored by the Department of Conservation and Friends of the old Capitol, was part of the Department's "Illinois Heritage Days" program.

Illinois Public Health Director Joyce Lashof last week issued safety hints for persons buying live Christmas trees. "Look for a heavy tree," she said. "If it's good and heavy, you know it's full of sap and will stay fresh and moist longer."

"After taking the tree home, saw off about an inch from the bottom of the trunk and place the tree in a stand that contains water with the sawed-off trunk sitting in the water. By keeping your tree as fresh and moist as possible, you not only keep it more beautiful, but also lessen the risk of fire caused by hot lights on a dry tree," Dr. Lashof said.

Ten public health agencies in Illinois will receive state funds totaling $148,483 for use in the control of high blood pressure. The funds will be used for screening to locate high blood pressure patients, treatment of patients and education of patients and the community. "We want to do everything we can to combat this disease that affects one out of 15 Americans," Dr. Joyce Lashof said.

Sausage orders may be picked up Saturday

Members of St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, will meet tomorrow to try to fill all of the orders received for the church's annual sausage-making event. Orders placed in advance may be picked up at the church between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturday. If there is any sausage left after advance orders are taken, it will be sold during the same hours. Advance orders may be placed by calling the church office at 876-4559.

The sausage is available in eight, bulk or link form and is made in plain or garlic flavor. It will sell for $1.50 per pound, 25 cents per pound less than last year.

More than 1,200 pounds of sausage was made last year and all was quickly sold, leaving many disappointed who did not make reservations.

Injured driver faces 3 charges

Richard D. Edgar, 22, of 2814A Meramec, St. Louis, has been charged with reckless driving, failing to stop at a stop sign and illegal transportation of alcohol by Granite City authorities following an auto accident at 2 a.m. Tuesday at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue.

Edgar's auto, traveling north on 21st Street, allegedly went out of control at the intersection and struck a utility pole, resulting in Edgar being injured.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and then transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, suffering pains in his chest and legs, cuts to his right hand and numbness in his right leg.

He said he was here to recover his auto which had been reported stolen the evening before in St. Louis and was being chased by another auto when the accident occurred.

Bottles of beer were found in the vehicle, police said.

COIN CLUB SHOW

Tighter rules on business schools

Illinois attorney general's Office of Consumer Protection. Individuals who bring suit as a result of a violation of the rules may be awarded damages by the courts.

This summer, the staff of the Non-Public School Approval Section of IOE completed an on-site evaluation of each of 60 schools, representing a cross-section of the almost 300 proprietary schools approved to do business in the state.

All such schools will be visited once every three years by a team of subject specialists and IOE staff members in the future. The evaluations are comprehensive, including review of a school's facilities, programs, personnel and administrative operations.

The IOE has added several new staff positions to the Non-Public School Approval Section to aid in fuller enforcement of the rules.

A compliance officer has been added to deal with followup and resolution of all complaints. The section also has added an assistant director and two educational specialists—one to deal with regulations of proprietary schools within Illinois and the other to process all out-of-state approvals.

Those who want to testify on the new rules at the public hearing are to request a witness slip from: Roy McDermott, Illinois Office of Education, Department of Non-Public School Approval, 100 N. 1st St., Springfield 62777.

Copies of the revised rules are available from both the Springfield and Chicago IOE offices.

Oral testimony will be limited to 10 minutes. Witnesses are to file five copies of the written draft with McDermott by Dec. 13. Testimony at the hearing will be taken in order of registration.

Last reserves of minerals in oceans blocked

By RICHARD L. LESHNER
President U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Mysterious nodules lying on the floor of the ocean contain immense reserves of iron, manganese, nickel, cobalt, copper and perhaps other minerals, worth at least $3 trillion. The implications for a world worried about mineral shortages are obvious.

Unfortunately, the right to develop these resources at the lowest possible cost to the consumer is in danger of being bargained away in a vain attempt to placate Third World radicals. Here's the story:

The Fifth Session of the UN's Third Law of the Sea Conference ended on Sept. 17. Fitting the pattern of previous sessions, the conference, dating back to 1973, the delegates could agree on little except to reconvene, and thereby at least preserve their own jobs.

The Sixth Session will also take place at the UN in New York in May 1977.

The cause of the general deadlock is the inability of developing and industrialized countries to agree to a formula for exploitation of deep seabed minerals.

Few delegates have indicated optimism that a solution can be found in May, with some admitting that another session resulting in no progress toward developing an international deep seabed regime might just kill the entire exercise.

Progress in all areas towards a broad sea law treaty is dependent on resolution of the deep seabed minerals issue.

All parties, including the U.S. government, agree that a UN seabed authority should supervise the mining of nodules from the deep seabed.

At present, the U.S. is the only country with the underwater technology to mine the nodules. And the technology belongs to private companies, not to the government.

Several U.S. firms are interested in deep sea mining. Nevertheless, the developing countries, seabed treaty ratifiers, have demanded that the UN seabed authority establish its own mining operation, called "The Enterprise."

This proposal has been accepted by the U.S. However, the Group of 77 also wants the seabed authority to have the power to locate where private seabed mining firms competing with The Enterprise may conduct operations, and the authority to restrict production so as to protect competing land-based mining operations.

In other words, the authority to fix prices. The U.S. has rejected these proposals, and has demanded that private mining companies have guaranteed access to the seabed and freedom to exploit assigned areas.

The U.S., in attempts at compromise, has offered to share the seabed equally with The Enterprise, to share a portion of profits from seabed mining with all nations through the UN authority, to extend financing and technical assistance to nations, and even to renegotiate the entire arrangement after 25 years.

In response, the Group of 77 has not modified any of its demands.

Moderates within the Group of 77 are known to agree with the U.S. position, but the radical left has sufficient strength to dictate the Group's position through the last day of the session.

Some observers have speculated that the Group of 77 may be delaying, hoping for more concessions from the new U.S. administration.

The U.S. does have an option in the form of legislation beyond the UN conference. But exercise of it would be at the expense of further antagonizing the developed world.

Already reported by several congressional committees is the proposed deep seabed mining act (S. 713, H.R. 1270) which has been held back from floor consideration by the Senate.

This legislation would unilaterally license U.S. firms to conduct for at least 15 years deep seabed mining, the license would be subject to any other firm subject to U.S. jurisdiction or the jurisdiction of any state which periodically recognizes such U.S. licenses.

If licensees should suffer loss of rights under a subsequent multilateral seabed treaty ratified by the U.S., the U.S. Government would compensate the licensee for the loss of investment (minus profits).

Approval of this or similar proposals as an expression of congressional exasperation with UN efforts to establish a legal regime sanctioning orderly deep seabed exploitation could sabotage the Law of the Sea Conference.

'Potential' here but firms want more than just piece of vacant land—RCGA

To the Editor:

The Press-Record implied, in a Nov. 24 editorial, that the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association was more interested in the economic development of St. Louis County than it was in the development of other parts of this nine-county region.

The implication is unwarranted. The editorial quoted a news story in which Arthur G. Baebler, RCGA general manager, discussed the shrinking number of St. Louis County's readily-available industrial sites and pointed out the importance of industrial development in enlarging the tax base needed for a growing population.

The RCGA has been emphasizing the need for setting aside more land for industrial and business sites all over this region for some time now.

The "vast space" near the City of Madison mentioned by Robert Koepke, of the faculty of Southern Illinois University, on the absorption of industrial land in St. Louis County.

Koepke is surveying this whole region to help planners and industrial development specialists assess our land use needs. He began with St. Louis County and that report has been published.

As the most highly developed of the eight counties around St. Louis, St. Louis County has a history that can offer lessons to other parts of the area.

Because we have detailed data on St. Louis County, and not on any of the other counties in the region, we often quote from its report because the information is available.

Our organization would be foolish indeed to try to place every industrial prospect in one county.

We agree with the Press-Record that an enlarged tax base is as desirable for one part of the area as for another.

The "vast space" near the City of Madison mentioned in the editorial has an excellent industrial development potential. But industrial prospects are looking for more than just a piece of vacant land.

Each prospect has certain requirements, and the RCGA tries to show each prospect just as many sites that meet those requirements as it can—regardless of what county they are in.

More than most organizations in this area, the RCGA realizes the necessity for a regional approach to community issues, and our record shows that. An RCGA task force recommended the landbanking of property near Columbia for a regional airport.

The RCGA participated in the effort to locate COALCON near New Athens and has been an active participant in local support for the transfer of Air Force personnel to Scott Air Force Base.

Representatives of both labor and industry from the Illinois counties sit on the RCGA board of directors. The Growth Association is and will continue to be working for economic growth of the entire region—both sides of the river.

Utility-linked Maeras Industrial Park is flourishing; likely that additional such sites here could succeed

The importance of already-in-place utility lines and streets in encouraging utilization of industrial parks continues to be demonstrated in the highly-successful Stephens Maeras Industrial Park in Madison.

Many industries already occupy sites in the Maeras development, a city undertaking named for the late mayor under whose administration the industrial park was created.

Mayor Mike Saak announced at the Nov. 30 City Council meeting that final arrangements have been made for the location of a steel processing plant. In addition, representatives of a second steel processing firm are considering acquisition of a 30-acre plant site for possible annexation to the city.

Other industrial parks also would be desirable for the Quad-City area, based on Madison's success in attracting manufacturing activity throughout the Maeras Park.

As noted by Engineer Edward Juneau at Tuesday's Granite City Rotary luncheon, industrial-commercial centers appear likely to abound here once the current Chouteau-Nameoki-Venice townships sanitary sewer project has been carried out. Detailed planning for such sites already has been started for the vicinity of Interstate 270 and the Great River Road.

Maryville Road extension will be convenient for many Groundbreaking ceremonies held Tuesday for the extension of Maryville Road herald a major traffic improvement here.

As shown by the November closing of Illinois Route 162 for repairs, and this week's shutdown of part of Johnson Road, the already large local vehicular traffic volume is not far from a level that could cause serious congestion and delay.

Connecting with Route 203 (Nameoki Road extension) on the north and with Route 162 on the south, Maryville Road would complete what has been a thoroughfare that will help divert from Nameoki Road many motorists whose destinations make such a routing change feasible.

In addition, Maryville Road in effect will shorten the distance between local points, including Granite City High School North, freeing residential streets near the future Maryville Road section. At present, Maryville is non-existent between Pontoon Road and Stratford Lane-Elm Street Avenue, and south of there it is only two-lane and lacks a connecting link with 162, instead stopping at Terminal Avenue.

Maryville Road when finished also seems likely to serve as a stimulus for further commercial and residential construction.

Peace move or propaganda?

(Near East Report)

Since the U.S. Presidential election, Egypt has embarked on a campaign designed to demonstrate its willingness to enter into peace negotiations with Israel.

President Sadat, who is particularly convincing when speaking to small groups, has been telling visiting American Congressmen and others that he is prepared for talks at a reconvened Geneva Conference.

Nobody is more anxious for peace than Israel, nor is anyone more hopeful than Israel that Sadat is, in fact, genuinely sincere.

For nearly 20 years, Israel has been seeking evidence of fundamental changes in Arab attitudes toward the existence of a viable Jewish State in the Middle East.

But until now, Israel's hopes have not been fulfilled. Based on the record of Arab hostility and intransigence, it is, therefore, no wonder that many, both here and in Israel, remain skeptical today about Sadat's real intentions.

Israel's leaders are, nevertheless, willing to put Sadat to the test.

Addressing himself to Sadat in a Jerusalem speech, Prime Minister Rabin candidly said: "If you are serious about this word 'peace,' let us negotiate. You have explained your willingness to make peace with American Senators.

"Congressmen and other visitors... now what do you have to say to me? If you want to talk at Geneva, Israel is ready. If you and your colleagues have any other proposal here to meet about an overall peace, let me know about it. If you prefer testing your ideas about an end to the state of war, please, let me hear from you.

Thus, the burden is now clearly on Sadat to do more than merely talk. Sadat has had ample opportunity to prove his peaceful intentions.

Unfortunately, there is more to Egyptian policy than the soft words intended for American ears.

While Sadat speaks of negotiations with Israel, his foreign minister, Ismail Fahmy, has put forward several non-negotiable preconditions, including a return to the pre-1967 armistice lines and the creation of separate Palestinian state on the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

At the same time, Egyptian diplomats at the UN took the initiative in calling for an emergency session of the Security Council to assail Israel's occupation practices on the West Bank.

His current peace "overtures" seem largely intended to pressure President-elect Jimmy Carter to take up the Middle East as a priority issue. Sadat still believes that the United States is the only party that can exert pressure on Israel to make one-sided territorial concessions.

Despite these legitimate reservations and fears, Sadat's "peace offensive" is still worth exploring, on the premise that no opportunity for peace, however remote, should be overlooked. But this does not warrant the exaggerated praise of Sadat's statements that some American visitors to Egypt have so enthusiastically expressed.

There is no real reason to give any credence to the recent claims emanating from PLO spokesmen indicating a possible shift in this terrorist organization's basic attitude toward Israel.

Some PLO officials are now cleverly couching their objectives in seemingly more peaceful tones. But close examination shows that no PLO official is willing to renounce the PLO's 1968 Covenant or its 1974 Ten Points, both of which make absolutely clear the organization's ultimate goal in the destruction of Israel and the establishment in its stead of a "democratic, secular Palestine."

Said Hammami, a PLO official, told an interviewer in London last week he would love to see Israel disappear. "Nothing would make me happier," he said.

All the present publicized discussion of the creation of a new Palestinian state on the West Bank and Gaza represents only a tactical change in achieving the PLO's overall objective.

The new mini-state, it must be recalled, would then become "a step on the path" to the total "liberation of Palestinian soil"—as PLO officials maintain.

Some wishful thinkers and naive observers may now be willing to take a chance on PLO "moderation." But no serious person—let alone anyone genuinely concerned about Israel's security and survival—can afford to do so.

Badly beaten in Lebanon, its ranks in disarray, the PLO is now regrouping to win support in the United States and West by modifying faintly its rhetoric. Let no one be misled.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT is discussed by Mayor Paul Schuler, at right, at a meeting of the Social Studies Club at Granite City High School Thursday afternoon. City departments, elected officials and their duties and responsibilities were explained to the club. To conclude the talk, Mayor Schuler opened the floor for questions pertaining to his job as mayor or other inquiries about the city government.

Buy toys that are safe, attorney general urges

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has warned holiday shoppers to use care in purchasing toys for gifts since some toys, with faulty construction details that can cause painful injuries to children, may still be on the market.

Attorney General Scott explained that there is a growing concern for toy safety in the area of electrical toys. Under the Federal Hazardous Substance Act, the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission has banned some 1,800 toys that present electrical, mechanical, or thermal hazards.

Manufacturers must label toys stating that they are not for children under a certain age. Toys with a heating element may not be recommended for children under the age of eight and hobby item toys like woodburning kits that may have parts that burn at extremely high temperatures cannot be recommended for children under 12.

In addition, electrical toys must have all live components enclosed so that they may not be opened with a common household tool, heating elements must be supported and prevented from making contact that might produce shock, and toys designed for use with water must have the electrical elements in a sealed chamber away from the water.

Scott said that children can be seriously injured by poorly designed details such as sharp wires or prongs meant to hold the shape of dolls or stuffed toys. These can easily break through the toy's cover material.

The attorney general cited other examples of toys which should be avoided:

- Brittle plastic toys which shatter, sending flying pieces of plastic and leaving jagged edges.
- Toys with sharp metal edges or parts.
- Stuffed animals with button eyes that can be removed and swallowed by small children.
- Rattles which can break apart into easily-swallowed pieces.
- Dangerous games such as darts or bows and arrows.
- Toy caps and noise-making guns that can reach noise levels that may damage hearing.
- Baby bouncers that support young children while walking or sitting. The bouncing may cause pinches, cuts or bruises.
- Toys to be particularly

Appeals board ok's permits

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended that the Madison County Board grant three requests for special use permits to allow placements of mobile homes in the Quad-City area.

Recommended is a permit for Elder Curtis Nunn for a unit at 194 Hill St., Eagle Park Acres, Venice Township, for the duration of the lifetime of Elder Nunn and for the sole occupancy of his family.

Also recommended is a permit for Robert Young, owner, and Joyce Virginia, occupant of a mobile home, to locate it at 219 Carver St., Viaduct Addition, Nemo Township, for the sole use of the Joyce M. Virginia family and for up to five years.

The third recommendation is on a request by Robert V. Moore for a permit to place a double-wide unit on Lake Drive north of Pontoon Beach, Chouteau Township, for the duration of his wife's lifetime and for the sole occupancy and usage of his family.

It is recommended all three be granted with stipulations that they be removed when the need for the mobile homes no longer exists. The Madison County Board will act on the zoning board's recommendations later this month.

Madison HS band concert tonight

Yuletide appointments will decorate the auditorium at Madison High School tonight for the opening concert of the Madison Senior High Concert Band at 8 o'clock.

The concert is open to the public and single admission charge will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students at the door.

Season tickets for this performance and two others during the 1977 school year are now available from Madison band members.

Under the direction of William F. Ledbetter, director of instrumental music in the Madison schools, tonight's concert will feature varied selections ranging from traditional Christmas pieces to marches and folk songs.

Making a guest appearance will be the Madison High School Choral Club directed by Mrs. Dolores Folkerts. The group will perform several seasonal songs.

Arrangements for this evening's presentation have been made with the assistance of the Madison Band Parents Club, Ledbetter said.

Christine Gorka, a senior band member, will narrate the Yuletide poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," accompanied by the band. Miss Gorka plays French horn and serves as band president.

Among the selections tonight will be: Finale from "Symphony No. 5" by Anton Dvorak; A Suite of Early Marches and two Gaelic folk songs.

Members of a committee coordinating the Yuletide event are Barbara Bailey and Al Delay, co-chairmen, and Ruth Welch, Brenda Ervin, Sandra Pumpfrey, Teresa Wallace and Linda Marcus.

Secretaries host yule party

The Holiday Inn in Collinsville was the scene of the December meeting and Christmas party of the Tri-Cities chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International), Thursday night.

After dinner, a brief business meeting took place with Mrs. Gail L. Foley, CPS, presiding. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Lana Randolph, CPS, and the treasurer, Miss Jane Davis and committee chairmen.

Miss Twila Edmonds and Mrs. Helen Gieselmann announced that the Christmas party to be given by the local chapter for the residents of a nursing home in Edwardsville has been set for Saturday, Dec. 11, at 1:30 p.m. Each member will purchase gifts for two of the residents. On Dec. 9, the members will meet at the office of the current Boss of the Year, Larry Sidener, to stuff stockings with candy, fruit and nuts which will be given at the party.

The program chairman, Mrs. Joyce Savich, announced that the speaker for the Jan. 6 meeting will be Mrs. Rita Bruce, an instructor at Meramec Community College, and her talk will be entitled "Self-Development Through Concentration."

Mrs. Randolph, membership chairman, reported that four applications for membership have been received as the chapter continues its membership drive.

Any secretary interested in attending the January meeting is invited to call Mrs. Sally Gracey at 931-3900 or Mrs. Louise Hemming at 931-0687 for reservations.

The charity committee said the November project was the purchasing of clothing and food for a needy family. Each month for a year two different members of the chapter will work with the charity committee in selecting a person or persons in need and assisting them.

Following the business meeting, the annual Christmas party took place with Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, CPS, and Miss Davis in charge. A comical skit entitled "The Brutal Miner" was read by Mrs. Foley and all members participated. Christmas bingo was played with everyone winning a prize. Everyone present received a Christmas gift from the Boss of the Year.

Guests attending included Ann Glowacki, Caroline Sauer, June Mosele, CPS, Harriet Hamilton, Shelby Shinn, Lindsay Glasper, Nancy Bezan, Becky Batson, Judy Novosel and Sandy Siebert.

Germania Federal has the perfect retirement plan for people who are self-employed or not covered by an employer's plan.

A plan that is so simple you can set it up yourself. And lets you deduct your contributions to the plan—up to $1,500 per year—from your taxable income. It's called an Individual Retirement Account, and you can open one at any Germania Federal office.

Eligibility has recently been reviewed and broadened to include members of the Armed Forces Reserves, National Guard, and volunteer fire departments.

While your money is in a Germania Federal Retirement Account, it earns interest, of course. Taxes on this interest are also deferred until retirement time, which is a further saving. Come let one of our people show you how easy it all is.

Debbie Seebold becomes Mrs. David Paul Evans

The wedding of Miss Debbie Karen Seebold and David Paul Evans was solemnized in an early afternoon ceremony on Nov. 27 at the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville campus.

Floral arrangements of orange, yellow and blue flowers adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony performed at 1 o'clock by Father Kenneth Becker, assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Kathryn Seebold, 23 Paul Drive and Paul Seebold, Old Alton Road. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Evans, 6 Bermuda Lane.

Miss Seebold, chose a formal-length ecru gown designed with an Empire waist and softly flowing semi-straight skirt.

The groom chose Walter Raymond Miller as his best man, Otto Paul Seebold Jr. and Paul Allen Evans escorted the guests to their seats.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner.

Senior Club party

The YMCA Senior Citizens held its annual Christmas party last week with 80 members and guests attending the catered dinner at 12 noon followed by an afternoon of entertainment.

Brownie Troop 316 holds investiture

A candlelight investiture and rededication ceremony was held last week by Brownie Troop 316 of Johnson School, conducted by troop leaders Mrs. Katie Wilson and Mrs. Marie Edgington.

Brownie scouts rededicated were Kathy Holton and Ann Wood and participating in the investiture were Michelle Bazzell, Gina Whaley, Natasha Cristoff, Stephanie Hays, Tracy Hamilton, Dianne Wrigley, Vicky Edgington and Karen Wilson.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the girls presented their mothers with decorated place mats they had made and then served refreshments to mothers and guests.

The troop is presently planning a visit to the Colonial Haven Nursing Home for a Christmas caroling program.

Jesse Sarver of Brownstown, Ill., a guest, gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Nola Heiney led the group in reciting the pledge to the flag.

America Kachigian and Norma Mendoza sang solos and a program of Christmas selections were played by a combo band. As Santa Claus arrived Mrs. Marge Hall sang a song and Mrs. Ruby Hoffman played the piano.

Each member was presented a gift bag filled with fruit, candy and a variety of small gift items provided by Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, Mercer Mortuary, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, First National Bank and State Saving and Loan. Among the guests was Alice Allen from Ramsey, Ill.

Announcement was made for a tea and cookie party to be held at the "Y" from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Friday and another party scheduled for 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 22 at the YMCA. All senior citizens residing in the area are invited to attend according to Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Mendoza, both associated with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).
